- A. GPON Type C protection
- B. GPON Type B dual-homing protection
- C. GPON Type B single-homing protection
- D. GPON Type A protection

Answer: A

Explanation:

Let us analyze each protection scheme:

- * Type A Protection :
 - * Protects only the trunk fiber (between the OLT and the splitter).
 - * Does not protect branch fibers.
 - * Type B Single-Homing Protection :
 - * Protects the trunk fiber but does not extend protection to branch fibers.
 - * Type B Dual-Homing Protection :
 - * Similar to Type B single-homing but uses two OLTs for redundancy. Still does not protect branch fibers.
 - * Type C Protection :
 - * Provides end-to-end protection , covering both the trunk and branch fibers.
 - * Uses redundant fibers and splitters to ensure continuity in case of failures in either the trunk or branch fibers.
- Thus, the correct answer is D , as Type C protection is the only scheme that protects branch fibers.
