Cisco Designing and Implementing Enterprise Network Assurance Sample Questions (Q29-Q34):

NEW QUESTION # 29
Carefully review the exhibits. Which detail indicates the network issue might be caused by a BGP Hijack?

- A. HTTP Server response delay
- B. AS 16509 change to AS 10297
- C. Availability Drop
- D. Packet Loss

Answer: B

Explanation:
In the Designing and Implementing Enterprise Network Assurance (300-445 ENNA) curriculum, identifying routing anomalies such as BGP Hijacking is a critical aspect of external network assurance. A BGP Hijack occurs when an Autonomous System (AS) illegitimately announces a prefix it does not own, causing traffic intended for the rightful owner to be misdirected.

By contrasting Exhibit 3.4-1 (Before the Outage) and Exhibit 3.4-2 (During the Outage), a definitive change in the routing path is observed. In the baseline view (Exhibit 3.4-1), traffic from the Los Angeles agent reaches the destination network 54.239.104.0/23, which is correctly associated with Amazon.com, Inc. (AS 16509).
However, during the outage (Exhibit 3.4-2), the path visualization shows the traffic being redirected into a different network: eNET Inc. (AS 10297). At this new location, the traffic encounters 100% Forwarding Loss at the node ten7-8.core-2.xlhost.com. The change in the Autonomous System (AS) number from 16509 to 10297 (Option B) is the most concrete indicator of a BGP Hijack. While symptoms such as Availability Drop (Option A), Response Delay (Option C), and Packet Loss (Option D) are clearly visible in the ThousandEyes telemetry, these symptoms are generic and could be caused by various other issues like physical link failures or congestion. The shift in the AS path-specifically to an AS that does not legitimately host the target's IP prefix-provides the forensic evidence needed to identify the root cause as a routing takeover. This visualization allows network administrators to bypass internal troubleshooting and immediately focus on external remediation with upstream providers.

NEW QUESTION # 30
When selecting an integration type for requested data, what does "API" stand for?

- A. Advanced Protocol Integration
- B. Automated Performance Indicator
- C. Analytical Performance Index
- D. Application Programming Interface

Answer: D

Explanation:
"API" stands for Application Programming Interface, which facilitates the exchange of data and functionality between different software applications, enabling seamless integration and interoperability.

NEW QUESTION # 31
Users on remote sites are reporting voice issues, can you identify possible causes and next steps from the following exhibits?

- A. Involve the Voice team as the RTP test does not return any relevant results for the agent located at site 20 (identified as s20 in the exhibit)
- B. Verify the docker host 10.84.50.53 and ensure the agent container is running.
- C. Analyze the jitter and latency trends on the affected voice paths to identify potential network congestion.
- D. Verify the routing changes on device 10.87.7.51

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 32
Which of the following are examples of agent types in network assurance?

- A. Local collection agent
- B. Remote management agent
- C. Scripting agent
- D. Cloud integration agent
- E. Virtualization agent
- F. Synthetic user agent

Answer: A,C,F

Explanation:
Examples of agent types in network assurance include synthetic user agents, scripting agents, and local collection agents, each serving specific purposes in monitoring and data collection.

NEW QUESTION # 33

Which RFC standardizes the concept of passive monitoring in network assurance?

- A. RFC 7276
- B. RFC 791
- C. RFC 7799
- D. RFC 7986

Answer: C

Explanation:
RFC 7799 standardizes passive monitoring methodologies, providing guidelines for data collection without affecting network traffic.
