CompTIA DataSys+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q89-Q94):

NEW QUESTION # 89
A database administrator is updating an organization's ERD. Which of the following is the best option for the database administrator to use?

- A. Spreadsheet
- B. Word processor
- C. UML tool
- D. HTML editor

Answer: C

Explanation:
The best option for the database administrator to use to update an organization's ERD is a UML tool. A UML tool is a software application that allows users to create, edit, and visualize diagrams using the Unified Modeling Language (UML). UML is a standard language for modeling software systems and their components, such as classes, objects, relationships, behaviors, etc. UML can also be used to create entity relationship diagrams (ERDs), which are graphical representations of the entities (tables), attributes (columns), and relationships (constraints) in a database. A UML tool can help the administrator to update an organization's ERD by providing features such as drag-and-drop, templates, symbols, validation, etc. The other options are either not suitable or not optimal for this task. For example, a word processor is a software application that allows users to create and edit text documents; a spreadsheet is a software application that allows users to organize and manipulate data in rows and columns; an HTML editor is a software application that allows users to create and edit web pages using HyperText Markup Language (HTML).

NEW QUESTION # 90
Given the following customer table:
Which of the following ORM snippets would return the ID, state, and country of all customers with the newest customers appearing first?

- A. ▫
- B. ▫
- C. ▫
- D. ▫

Answer: A

Explanation:
The ORM snippet that would return the ID, state, and country of all customers with the newest customers appearing first is option C. This snippet uses the select method to specify the columns to be returned, the order method to sort the results by ID in descending order, and the all method to fetch all the records. The other options either have syntax errors, use incorrect methods, or do not sort the results correctly.

NEW QUESTION # 91
Which of the following resources is the best way to lock rows in SQL Server?

- A. SID
- B. RID
- C. PID
- D. TID

Answer: B

Explanation:
The resource that is the best way to lock rows in SQL Server is RID. RID, or Row IDentifier, is an attribute that uniquely identifies each row in a heap table in SQL Server. A heap table is a table that does not have a clustered index, which means that the rows are not stored in any particular order. A RID consists of the file number, page number, and slot number of the row in the database. A RID can be used to lock rows in SQL Server to prevent concurrent access or modification by other transactions or users. A RID lock is a type of lock that locks a single row using its RID. A RID lock can be applied using the HOLDLOCK or XLOCK hints in a SELECT statement. The other options are either not related or not effective for this purpose. For example, TID, or Transaction IDentifier, is an attribute that uniquely identifies each transaction in a database; SID, or Security IDentifier, is an attribute that uniquely identifies each user or group in a Windows system; PID, or Process IDentifier, is an attribute that uniquely identifies each process in an operating system. Reference: CompTIA DataSys+ Course Outline, Domain 3.0 Database Management and Maintenance, Objective 3.3 Given a scenario, implement database concurrency methods.

NEW QUESTION # 92
Which of the following is used to document the system catalog in a database?

- A. System requirements documentation
- B. Data dictionary
- C. Standard operating procedure
- D. Project plan

Answer: B

Explanation:
A data dictionary documents the system catalog by providing metadata about database objects, their structure, and relationships within the database.

NEW QUESTION # 93
Which of the following is recommended in order to provide encrypted data communication pathways for information as it is transmitted over a network?

- A. SMB
- B. TLS
- C. TCP/IP
- D. NFS

Answer: B

Explanation:
The option that is recommended in order to provide encrypted data communication pathways for information as it is transmitted over a network is TLS. TLS, or Transport Layer Security, is a protocol that provides secure communication over the internet by encrypting the data using cryptographic algorithms and keys. TLS also provides authentication and integrity by verifying the identity of the parties involved and ensuring that the data has not been altered or tampered with.
TLS can be used to protect various types of data, such as web traffic, email, instant messaging, voice over IP, etc. The other options are either not related or not sufficient for this purpose. For example, TCP/IP, or Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol, is a set of protocols that defines how data is transmitted and routed over the internet, but does not provide encryption or security; NFS, or Network File System, is a protocol that allows users to access and share files over a network, but does not provide encryption or security; SMB, or Server Message Block, is a protocol that allows users to access and share files, printers, and other resources over a network, but does not provide encryption or security.
