SAP Certified - Database Administrator - SAP HANA Sample Questions (Q52-Q57):

NEW QUESTION # 52

A subscription services provider operates SAP HANA in a mixed environment. After a planned configuration adjustment intended to improve throughput, administrators observe that nightly batch processing finishes on time, but interactive analyst queries now show intermittent delays. Monitoring shows no broad system outage, and memory consumption remains stable. CPU peaks occur only during specific interactive workload windows.

The platform owner wants a correction that preserves the batch improvement while avoiding a broad reversal of the recent tuning changes. The team must decide based on actual workload behavior rather than a general assumption that the entire configuration set should be rolled back.

What is the best next step?

- A. Compare the changed configuration against the affected workload pattern and adjust only the setting that is degrading interactive execution behavior.
- B. Reverse all recent configuration changes immediately because any slowdown after tuning proves the full change set was invalid.
- C. Increase system memory allocation first because stable memory use indicates the system is close to its capacity boundary.
- D. Move the interactive workload to the cloud database without further analysis because the current landscape already supports mixed deployment.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 53

CHALLENGE 4 - Rollout Recovery Validation Gate

The rollout lead can release the plant wave on schedule using backup completion evidence, or delay briefly to include recovery validation for the wave database and recoverability evidence for the pilot system. Which path is most defensible?

- A. Delay briefly to complete recoverability evidence for systems supporting the plant wave.
- B. Release on schedule because schedule discipline is the strongest rollout governance outcome.
- C. Cancel the plant wave because recovery validation was not completed before checkpoint review.
- D. Release on schedule and attach recovery validation to the future SAP HANA Cloud migration plan.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Feedback:

A brief delay is most defensible because it completes recoverability evidence for systems supporting the plant wave. This balances schedule governance with operational resilience evidence.

NEW QUESTION # 54

CHALLENGE 2 - Restoration Simulation Monitoring Baseline

The UAT team has two viable actions: tune memory-related settings now to improve restoration analytics, or preserve monitoring evidence first and tune only if current evidence supports it. Which option best balances performance and evidence quality?

- A. Tune now and use the improved response time as the main release readiness measure.
- B. Preserve baseline monitoring evidence first, then approve tuning if current evidence supports it.
- C. Replace monitoring review with field manager feedback because the dashboard is user-facing.
- D. Reject all tuning until the SAP HANA Cloud migration phase begins.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Feedback:

Preserving baseline monitoring evidence first is most defensible because tuning should follow current evidence. This balances performance improvement with reliable UAT evidence for release comparison.

NEW QUESTION # 55

CHALLENGE 4 - Release Recoverability Evidence Gate

The business sponsor asks whether the release decision can proceed because the systems are available and backups completed. The administration lead wants startup behavior after recovery documented first. Which response best fits the scenario?

- A. Complete recovery validation and startup behavior documentation before final sign-off.
- B. Remove recovery evidence from the release package because UAT is not daily production.
- C. Proceed because availability and backup completion together are enough for release evidence.
- D. Proceed now and validate startup behavior during the later cloud migration phase.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Feedback:

Recovery validation and startup behavior documentation should be completed before final sign-off. The scenario requires continuity evidence that goes beyond availability and backup completion.

NEW QUESTION # 56

CHALLENGE 3 - Cloud Planning Evidence Separation

The leadership update needs to cover current recovery readiness and future SAP HANA Cloud reporting migration. The on-premises readiness systems have backup and monitoring evidence, while the cloud database has provisioning and sample data only. Which action best supports accurate decision-making?

- A. Treat cloud provisioning as proof that the migration stream is ready for reporting transition.
- B. Delay readiness sign-off until SAP HANA Cloud carries the same patient-flow workload.
- C. Combine all evidence into one readiness status so the leadership update is easier to read.
- D. Separate current recovery readiness from SAP HANA Cloud migration readiness in the update.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Feedback:

The update should separate current recovery readiness from SAP HANA Cloud migration readiness. The evidence supports different lifecycle decisions and should not be merged into one conclusion.
