NEW QUESTION # 27

For quality inspections in decentralized SAP EWM with QM integration, you need a quality inspection rule and the inspection setup in the material master. How can you simplify the master data creation?

- A. Use the inspection object type 7
- B. Create the quality inspection rule and distribute it to create the inspection setup in the material master
- C. Use acceptance sampling or pre-sampling from production
- D. Create the inspection setup in the material master and distribute it to create the quality inspection rule

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

Simplifying master data for QM in decentralized EWM involves leveraging ERP data. Option B ("Create the inspection setup in the material master and distribute it to create the quality inspection rule") is correct because the inspection setup in the ERP material master (QM view) can be distributed to EWM via CIF or qRFC, automatically generating the inspection rule, configured in SPRO: SCM Extended Warehouse Management > Quality Management > Integration. Options A, C, and D don't streamline this process effectively.

NEW QUESTION # 28

Which standard functions can be executed in the background when you enter an exception code in a radio frequency (RF) transaction? Note: There are 3 correct answers to this question.

- A. Confirm warehouse order
- B. Block a bin
- C. Generate workflow process
- D. Trigger replenishment
- E. Cancel physical inventory document

Answer: B,C,D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

Exception codes in RF transactions (e.g., /SCWM/RFUI) trigger background actions. Option B ("Trigger replenishment") is correct as it can initiate stock replenishment, configured in SPRO: SCM Extended Warehouse Management > Cross-Process Settings > Exception Handling. Option C ("Block a bin") is correct because it can lock a bin due to issues. Option E ("Generate workflow process") is correct as it can start a workflow for resolution. Option A (cancel PI document) and D (confirm order) are not standard background functions for exception codes.

NEW QUESTION # 29

When creating new document types, what must you keep in mind about system profiles?

- A. That you have to define your own profiles for your specific processes
- B. That the profiles have to be assigned to your new document type
- C. That you should use the profiles created by Business Configuration Sets (BC Sets)
- D. That the profiles are predefined and not changeable

Answer: D

Explanation:

* Understanding Document Types in SAP S/4HANA Cloud Private Edition and Extended Warehouse Management (EWM): Document types in EWM are used to categorize and define various processes like inbound, outbound, internal, and production activities. These document types also influence the way the system processes the underlying transactions.

* System Profiles in EWM: System profiles in Extended Warehouse Management are predefined by SAP. They represent standard configurations essential for core processes and ensure consistency across different implementations. These profiles are associated with document types to define process-specific settings, such as warehouse process types, item category determination, or movement types.

* Key Points About System Profiles:

* System profiles, such as document category profiles or warehouse order creation rules, are delivered by SAP as part of the standard configuration.

* These profiles are not editable or changeable by customers or consultants. This limitation ensures that critical functionalities behave as intended without customizations impacting the integrity of the system.

* Customers must align their process design with these predefined profiles or utilize SAP-recommended enhancements for specific needs.

* Implications for New Document Types: When creating new document types, you cannot define your own system profiles for them. Instead, you must rely on the system profiles already provided by SAP.

This restriction reinforces adherence to best practices and simplifies system maintenance.

* Why Option B is Correct: The profiles are predefined and not changeable, which aligns with SAP's standardized approach to managing EWM configurations. Other options are incorrect because:

* Option A: You cannot define your own profiles.

* Option C: Business Configuration Sets (BC Sets) are optional templates and do not replace system profiles.

* Option D: While profiles are associated with document types, they are not custom-defined; they are predefined.

NEW QUESTION # 31

What are the advantages of using a mobile device during physical inventory? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. There is a special SAP Fiori app available.
- B. It is optional to block bin.
- C. The stock is immediately corrected in SAP ERP.
- D. You can use collective counting for bulk storage.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Using a mobile device during physical inventory provides the following advantages:

* The Stock is Immediately Corrected in SAP ERP (B):

* Real-time integration ensures that any adjustments made during physical inventory are immediately updated in SAP ERP, reflecting accurate stock levels.

* You Can Use Collective Counting for Bulk Storage (C):

* Mobile devices support collective counting, allowing multiple bins or storage areas to be counted simultaneously, which is particularly useful for bulk storage locations.

Incorrect Options:

* A: While SAP Fiori apps are available for some inventory functions, the mobile device functionality in physical inventory extends beyond app-specific use.

* D: Blocking bins is optional but not a distinct advantage of using mobile devices.
