- A. Colors and images
- B. Cookie Consent Manager and JavaScript
- C. Content and category pages
- D. Data capture forms and locales

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

Multi-brand CSB sites allow differentiation to reflect distinct brand identities:

* Option A (Colors and images): Correct. CSB's Global Styles and Brand Configuration let you customize colors (e.g., palette) and images (e.g., logos, banners) per brand, ensuring visual distinction.

* Option B (Data capture forms and locales): Correct. You can tailor data capture forms (e.g., fields, branding) and locales (e.g., language, region) per brand, enhancing candidate targeting and compliance.

* Option C (Content and category pages): Incorrect as a primary differentiator. While configurable, these are more about site structure than brand distinction, applying across brands unless explicitly branded.

* SAP Documentation Excerpt: From the Recruiting Posting Guide: "The consultant is responsible for creating one standard XML feed as part of the standard recruiting implementation to facilitate automated job distribution to job boards."

* Option B (Conduct the job delivery intake meeting): Correct. This meeting aligns customer requirements with job distribution strategy, a key consultant task.

NEW QUESTION # 61

What is the recommended naming convention when setting up a subdomain for a customer's Career Site Builder site? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. careers.
<company>
.com
- B. <company>
.com/jobs
- C. <company>
.careers.com
- D. jobs.
<company>
.com

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

In SAP SuccessFactors Recruiting: Candidate Experience, the Career Site Builder (CSB) is designed to create branded, SEO-friendly career sites. The recommended naming convention for subdomains aligns with usability, branding, and search engine optimization (SEO) best practices. Options B (jobs.

<company>

.com) and C (careers.

<company>

.com) are widely recognized as standard conventions because:

* Subdomain Structure: Using "jobs" or "careers" as a prefix to the company's primary domain (e.g., jobs.company.com or careers.company.com) clearly indicates the purpose of the site, enhancing user experience and SEO visibility.

* SEO Benefits: Search engines like Google prioritize descriptive and relevant subdomains, making it easier for candidates to find the career site when searching for job opportunities at the company.

* Scalability: These formats allow flexibility for multi-brand or multilingual setups (e.g., careers.us.company.com).

* Option A (<company>.com/jobs): This is a subdirectory, not a subdomain. While functional, it's less recommended because it ties the career site to the main corporate domain structure, potentially complicating branding separation or site hosting configurations.
