NEW QUESTION # 91

A media company offers a majority of its movies through a specific distributor. The media company is beginning to produce content for a new foreign market to which the distributor has exclusive access. To maximize savings and gain entry to this new market, the media company should:

- A. create a contract for the new market.
- B. form a strategic alliance.
- C. enter into a partnership.
- D. acquire the distributor.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 92

A retailer wants to partner with its suppliers to implement automatic replenishment of inventories and joint sales forecasts. Which of the following supply chain management technologies most likely would support the retailer's strategy?

- A. Advanced planning and scheduling
- B. Collaborative planning, forecasting, and replenishment
- C. Supplier relationship management applications
- D. Radio frequency identification (RFID) tags

Answer: B

Explanation:

For a retailer looking to partner with its suppliers to implement automatic replenishment of inventories and joint sales forecasts, Collaborative Planning, Forecasting, and Replenishment (CPFR) is the most suitable technology. This involves:

* Joint Planning: CPFR enables retailers and suppliers to collaborate on planning and forecasting, ensuring that both parties have a shared understanding of demand and supply requirements.

* Inventory Replenishment: By sharing data and forecasts, CPFR helps to automate inventory replenishment, reducing stockouts and excess inventory.

* Data Integration: CPFR integrates data from various sources, providing a comprehensive view of the supply chain and improving decision-making.

* Improved Accuracy: Collaboration between retailers and suppliers leads to more accurate forecasts and better alignment of supply with demand.
