If you are still unsure whether to pursue CISI IFC exam questions for CISI Investment Funds in Canada (IFC) Exam preparation, you are losing the game at the first stage in a fiercely competitive marketplace. CISI IFC Questions are the best option for becoming CISI Investment Funds in Canada (IFC) Exam.

CISI Investment Funds in Canada (IFC) Exam Sample Questions (Q139-Q144):

NEW QUESTION # 139

What is the current yield on a $5,000 Government of Canada bond paying a 6% coupon and trading at a price of $102 (rounding to the nearest hundredth)?

- A. 6.12%
- B. 5.88%
- C. 4.90%
- D. 6.00%

Answer: D

Explanation:

The formula for current yield is:

$$\text{Current Yield} = \frac{\text{Annual Coupon Payment}}{\text{Current Market Price}} \times 100$$

- Par value = $5,000
- Coupon rate = 6% → Annual coupon = $300 (6% of $5,000)
- Market price = $102 per $100 par → $5,100 for $5,000 par

$$\text{Current Yield} = \frac{300}{5100} \times 100 = 5.88\%$$

Thus, the current yield = 5.88%.

NEW QUESTION # 140

Jasmine purchases a 1-year, $10,000 face value strip bond for $9,600. At maturity, when Jasmine receives $10,000, which of the following statements is CORRECT?

- A. Jasmine realizes interest income of $400.

- B. Jasmine realizes a taxable capital gain of $400.
- C. Jasmine realizes a capital dividend of $400.
- D. Jasmine realizes a taxable dividend of $400.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Jasmine realizes interest income of $400 because she bought a strip bond, which is a bond that has its principal and coupon payments separated and sold individually. Jasmine bought the principal-stripped bond, also known as a zero-coupon bond, which pays no interest until maturity. The difference between the purchase price and the face value at maturity is considered interest income and is taxable in the year it is received. NEW QUESTION # 141

Which statement best describes one of the main differences between short and long transactions?

- A. Short transactions are more common than long transactions
- B. Investors using long transactions anticipate a price increase in the security
- C. In a long transaction, the investor must pay the broker the cost of repurchasing the shares
- D. Short sales must result in a decline in the price of the stock that is sold short

Answer: B

Explanation:

Long transactions involve buying a security with the expectation that its price will increase, while short transactions involve borrowing and selling a security with the hope of buying it back at a lower price. The feedback from the document states:

"Short transactions are a common feature of the capital markets, although not as common as long transactions

- the transactions taken by investors who anticipate a price increase in the security. Investors who short sell stocks must first borrow the shares. They must also declare their short transactions." Reference: Chapter 7 - Types of Investment Products and How They Are Traded Learning Domain:

NEW QUESTION # 142

What is the time period during which an individual must complete a training program once she starts acting as a dealing representative?

- A. 30 days
- B. 3 months
- C. 90 days
- D. 6 months

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

A mutual fund dealing representative must complete a training program within 90 days of starting to act in that role and be closely supervised for six months. The feedback from the document states:

"All mutual fund dealing representatives are required to complete a training program within 90 days from the day that they first start acting as a dealing representative and must be closely supervised for six months." NEW QUESTION # 143

Justin and Yvonne both open a Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) for their daughter Grace. They plan to regularly contribute $1,000 per year until Grace reaches the age of 17.

Which of the following statements relating to RESP is CORRECT?

- A. There is an annual contribution limit of $2,500 that Justin and Yvonne can contribute to an RESP.
- B. Contributions made by Justin and Yvonne are eligible for a tax deduction in the year they are contributed.
- C. RESPs are attractive to Justin and Yvonne because they are tax-free investment plans.

- D. Justin and Yvonne may contribute a combined lifetime maximum of $50,000 for Grace.

Answer: D

Explanation:

A Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) is a tax-advantaged savings plan that helps parents and family members save for a child's post-secondary education. The government also contributes to the plan through the Canada Education Savings Grant (CESG) and the Canada Learning Bond (CLB), depending on the family income and the amount of contributions. However, there are some rules and limits that apply to RESP contributions and government grants. One of them is the lifetime contribution limit, which is the maximum amount that can be contributed to an RESP for a beneficiary from all sources. The lifetime contribution limit is $50,000 per beneficiary, regardless of how many RESPs are opened for them or who contributes to them.

Therefore, statement A is correct. Justin and Yvonne may contribute a combined lifetime maximum of $50,000 for Grace to their RESP.

The other statements are incorrect for the following reasons:

Statement B: RESPs are not tax-free investment plans. They are tax-deferred plans, meaning that the contributions are made with after-tax dollars and the investment income earned in the plan is not taxed until it is withdrawn as an educational assistance payment (EAP) for the beneficiary. The EAPs are taxed in the hands of the beneficiary, who usually has little or no income and pays little or no tax.

Statement C: There is no annual contribution limit for RESP contributions. However, there is an annual limit for the CESG, which is 20% of the first $2,500 contributed per beneficiary per year, up to a maximum of $500 per year. The CESG also has a lifetime limit of $7,200 per beneficiary.

Statement D: Contributions made to an RESP are not eligible for a tax deduction in the year they are contributed. They are made with after-tax dollars and do not reduce the contributor's taxable income.
