NEW QUESTION # 72

A developer is building a custom component in Lightning web components (LWC) that needs to fetch data from an API. Which lifecycle hook should the developer use to make the API call?

- A. errorCallback
- B. connectedCallback
- C. renderedCallback
- D. disconnectedCallback

Answer: B

Explanation:

The connectedCallback lifecycle hook is invoked when a Lightning web component is inserted into the DOM. This is the best time to make an API call, as the component is ready to render data from the server. The other lifecycle hooks are not suitable for making API calls, as they either occur after the component is rendered (renderedCallback), when an error occurs (errorCallback), or when the component is removed from the DOM (disconnectedCallback)¹. NEW QUESTION # 73

An Administrator has given another administrator access to the store to validate the B2B Commerce installation, but the welcome email was never received. In which two ways can the second Administrator access the store without changing the setup?

- A. Log in using the link in the More Information section of the Store page.
- B. Reset this user 's password from Setup and have the user login again.
- C. Check the Debug Logs for the welcome email.
- D. Enable Guest Access in Experience Builder.
- E. Log in from the Contact page in the Commerce app.

Answer: B,E

Explanation:

If a second administrator did not receive the welcome email for B2B Commerce, they can still access the store without changing the setup by logging in from the Contact page in the Commerce app (C). This method allows administrators with existing Salesforce credentials to access the B2B Commerce environment directly through the Commerce app, bypassing the need for a welcome email. Additionally, resetting the user 's password from Setup and having the user login again (E) is a common workaround for access issues. This approach ensures that the user can reset their password and gain access to the store without relying on the initial welcome email. Checking Debug Logs (A), Enabling Guest Access in Experience Builder (B), and Logging in using the link in the More Information section of the Store page (D) are not standard practices for this particular scenario.

- B. Load shipping costs
- C. Configure checkout flow
- D. Build the search index

Configuring the checkout flow defines the logic and user interface of the checkout process using Flow Builder. References: Search Indexing; Configure Checkout Flows

NEW QUESTION # 75

Which category can receive signaling from a Lightning Message Channel? 03m42s

- A. only descendents (i.e. children)
- B. page (anywhere on it)
- C. only direct siblings
- D. only ancestors (i.e. parents)

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Lightning Message Service (LMS) allows communication across different UI technologies on a Lightning page, such as Lightning Web Components, Aura Components, and Visualforce pages. LMS uses message channels to publish and subscribe to messages. A message channel is a custom metadata type that defines the shape and scope of the messages¹. The scope of a message channel determines which components can receive signaling from it. There are two possible scopes: application and component¹. The application scope means that any component on the page can receive signaling from the message channel, regardless of its position in the DOM hierarchy¹. The component scope means that only components that share a common ancestor can receive signaling from the message channel¹. Therefore, the correct answer is B. page (anywhere on it), because it corresponds to the application scope of a message channel. Reference: Use Lightning Message Service

- B. Edit the User Profile Menu in Profile Builder.
- C. Modify the User Profile Lightning Record Page in Experience Builder.
- D. Modify the settings for the User Profile Menu component.

Answer: D

This component is part of the header section of the store page layout and can be configured to display different information and actions for the user, such as company name, logo, account switcher, logout, etc. Reference: User Profile Menu Component
