NEW QUESTION # 37

A technician is helping a remote user. The technician asks the user to open a specific folder on the root directory of the computer. The user cannot find a folder with that name. The technician explains that a few settings are needed to allow the folder to appear. Which of the following should the user do to be able to see the folder? (Select two).

- A. Check the box to view hidden files
- B. Open the root drive properties
- C. Set the view extensions to "on"
- D. Configure the system settings
- E. Adjust the display properties
- F. Open File Explorer

Answer: A,C

Explanation:
The correct answers are E. Set the view extensions to "on" and F. Check the box to view hidden files, because folders located in the root directory are often hidden or protected system folders by default in Windows operating systems. Windows hides certain files and folders to prevent accidental modification or deletion, especially those critical to system functionality.
According to the Quentin Docter - CompTIA A+ Complete Study Guide, File Explorer includes view options that control whether hidden files, protected operating system files, and file extensions are visible. If these options are disabled, users will not see many system-level folders, even when browsing the root of the drive (such as C:\).
The Travis Everett & Andrew Hutz - CompTIA A+ All-in-One Exam Guide explains that enabling
"Show hidden files, folders, and drives" allows technicians to view directories that are normally concealed, such as configuration or application folders. Additionally, turning on file name extensions helps identify system folders and files more accurately, especially when troubleshooting or guiding users remotely.
The Mike Meyers / Mark Soper Lab Manual reinforces that simply opening File Explorer or adjusting display resolution does not affect file visibility. The correct fix is to modify File Explorer view settings, specifically enabling hidden items and file extensions.
Therefore, enabling hidden files and file extensions is required, making E and F the correct answers.

NEW QUESTION # 38

Which of the following describes an attack in which an attacker sets up a rogue AP that tricks users into connecting to the rogue AP instead of the legitimate network?

- A. Shoulder surfing

- B. Stalkerware
- C. Tailgating
- D. Evil twin

Answer: D

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
An evil twin is a rogue wireless access point set up to mimic a legitimate Wi-Fi network. Unsuspecting users may connect to it, giving attackers the opportunity to intercept traffic, steal credentials, or install malware.
The evil twin often uses the same SSID as the real network to fool users.
A: Stalkerware is spyware installed to track user activity, typically on personal devices.
C: Tailgating is a physical security breach involving unauthorized entry behind someone with access.
D: Shoulder surfing involves observing a person entering confidential data, such as PINs or passwords.

NEW QUESTION # 39
Which of the following controls access to certain services to ensure that administrators are not automatically given elevated permissions?

- A. PAM
- B. DLP
- C. MFA
- D. SSO

Answer: A

Explanation:
PAM (Privileged Access Management) controls access to certain services so that administrators are not automatically granted elevated permissions.

NEW QUESTION # 40
Users access an internal application through a browser website. When a user is browsing the site a message appears that states it is not safe. The message also displays an Advanced Options button to continue or close the site. During security training, all users were told to close any site that displays this message. Which of the following should the technician do to resolve the issue?

- A. Add the site to a list of safe senders
- B. Migrate the site to a different server
- C. Install a Secure Sockets Layer certificate for the site
- D. Move the site to a web-hosting company

Answer: C

Explanation:
Installing a Secure Sockets Layer certificate ensures the website uses trusted HTTPS encryption, eliminating browser security warnings and allowing users to access the internal application safely without bypassing security alerts.
