ACFE Certified Fraud Examiner - Fraud Prevention and Deterrence Exam Sample Questions (Q205-Q210):

NEW QUESTION # 205

During an external audit of an organization's financial statements, Saskia, the external auditor, uncovers significant internal control deficiencies at the organization. She believes these deficiencies could result in a material misstatement of the financial statements. Which of the following should Saskia do regarding these findings?

- A. Saskia should suspend the current audit engagement and begin a new audit focused on the internal control deficiencies.
- B. Saskia should provide a written communication about her findings to the relevant regulatory agencies.
- C. Saskia should communicate the deficiencies in writing to those charged with governance.
- D. Saskia should withdraw from the audit engagement immediately and issue a disclaimer on any prior work performed.

Answer: C

Explanation:

External auditors are required to report significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control to those charged with governance. The ACFE manual states:

"Auditors must communicate in writing to those charged with governance all significant deficiencies and material weaknesses identified during the audit." Reference: ACFE Fraud Examiners Manual, 2020 International Edition - Auditors' Fraud-Related Responsibilities, Section 4.503.

NEW QUESTION # 206

Professional auditing standards require that auditors incorporate an "element of unpredictability" in the selection of auditing procedures to be performed.

- A. True
- B. False

Answer: A

Explanation:

Professional Auditing Standards Requirement:

* Standards such as the International Standards on Auditing (ISA) and Generally Accepted Auditing Standards (GAAS) require auditors to include elements of unpredictability in their audit procedures to reduce the risk of fraud.

Purpose of Unpredictability:

* By varying the scope, timing, and extent of audits, auditors prevent potential fraudsters from anticipating audit procedures and adjusting their behavior.

Why A is Correct:

* This aligns with established auditing principles to enhance fraud detection and maintain audit integrity.

NEW QUESTION # 207

Which of the following statements is FALSE regarding an organization's fraud risk management program?

- A. The responsibility of handling suspected incidences of noncompliance should be delegated to someone outside of the company
- B. A Formal sanctions for intentional noncompliance should be well-publicized throughout the company
- C. The program must include mechanisms to monitor and identify breaches in compliance
- D. There should be measures in place to address failures in the design or operation of anti-fraud controls, as well as fraud occurrences

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 208

XYZ, Inc. is a specialty retailer of high-end ergonomic office furniture. The company receives a very large order from ABC Company, a new customer in a different country that wants to pay on credit. Which of the following is MOST ACCURATE regarding the due diligence procedures XYZ should perform on ABC before proceeding with this transaction?

- A. XYZ does not need to take any specific procedures to verify ABC's identity before accepting the transaction
- B. XYZ should examine ABC's net worth as part of deciding whether to allow the purchase on credit.
- C. XYZ should perform the same level of due diligence as it would for any other customer to avoid claims of discrimination
- D. XYZ only needs to undertake due diligence procedures if ABC conducts business in countries with known corruption risks.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 209

Which of the following scenarios is the MOST ACCURATE representation of organizational crime?

- A. An agreement between all the local floral companies to unnecessarily raise prices.
- B. An inventory manager taking home the company's product to sell privately.
- C. A retail clerk colluding with a friend to commit a scheme involving fraudulent returns.
- D. An accountant uses company funds to pay personal credit card charges.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:

Organizational crime refers to offenses committed by organizations or their agents to benefit the organization, rather than the individual alone. Price-fixing by a group of floral companies to manipulate market conditions is a classic example of organizational crime. The other options-fraudulent returns, theft of goods, and misuse of company funds-are examples of occupational or individual fraud, which benefit the perpetrator rather than the organization.
