Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q68-Q73):

NEW QUESTION # 68

You need to relate two entities, Employee and Skill, in the data structure. You want to adhere to Appian best practices.

Employees can have multiple skills, and a single skill can relate to multiple employees.

What type of relationship do these entities represent, and what is the minimum number of tables required to implement the design?

- A. Many-to-many; 3 tables
- B. Many-to-many; 2 tables
- C. One-to-many; 2 tables

Answer: A

Explanation:

The relationship between Employee and Skill is many-to-many - an employee can have multiple skills, and each skill can belong to multiple employees.

To model this properly and according to Appian best practices, you need 3 tables:

Employee table

□

Skill table

EmployeeSkill (junction/association) table - contains foreign keys referencing both Employee and Skill to manage the many-to-many relationship.

NEW QUESTION # 69

You need to allow external systems to invoke Appian web APIs.

Which user role should be assigned?

- A. Application User
- B. Service Account
- C. System Administrator

Answer: B

Explanation:

A Service Account user role is specifically designed for integrations, allowing external systems to securely authenticate and invoke Appian web APIs.

NEW QUESTION # 70

You need to implement a field-level audit functionality on the application data, and then display a log of the changes made over time to the users.

What should you do?

- A. Create Audit table(s) and create triggers on each transaction table to record modifications into the Audit table.
- B. Create Audit table(s) and create stored procedures on each transaction table to compare and save the modified data.
- C. Create utility process model(s) to insert new version of the modified data for the same record into the transaction tables on modification.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Creating audit tables and using triggers on each transaction table ensures that all field-level changes are automatically recorded at the database level, providing a reliable and consistent audit log for display to users.

NEW QUESTION # 71

You're developing a user input form for a financial services application.

One component of this form requires you to embed an external site (in the form of a URL) that can receive inputs from Appian and return updates as the user interacts with it.

What should you do?

- A. Use the Appian out-of-the-box Web Content Component. It can display content from a URL and provide both additional inputs, or receive updates as the user interacts with the embedded site.
- B. Use an integration to achieve interaction with the embedded site while displaying information in the Appian out-of-the-box Web Content Component. That way you can refresh for updates and interact with the site.
- C. Use a component plug-in to achieve interaction with the embedded site, because this use case requires input-output or event parameters.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A component plug-in is required because the standard Web Content Component in Appian only displays external sites and does not support direct two-way interaction or input/output event handling. A plug-in enables custom integration to allow input and receive updates as users interact with the embedded site.

NEW QUESTION # 72

You have set up SAML for single sign-on (SSO) in your cloud environment.

Which three options could you enable in the Attribute Mapping section of the Admin Console to sync with a user's profile in Appian? (Choose three.)

- A. "Reactivate deactivated users upon sign in."
- B. "Update user attributes upon sign in."
- C. "Create new users upon sign in."
- D. "Group Membership Synchronization."
- E. "Remember Me on web and mobile."

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

Create new users upon sign in - provisions new Appian users automatically when they first authenticate through SAML.

Reactivate deactivated users upon sign in - automatically re-enables an Appian account if the user returns after being deactivated.

Update user attributes upon sign in - refreshes profile details (e.g., name, email, custom attributes) each time the user signs in.
