HPE Aruba Networking ClearPass Exam Sample Questions (Q130-Q135):

NEW QUESTION # 130

A company is setting up a new wireless service for their Intermec handheld scanners and has decided to use the full-service wizard. What is a likely outcome they should prepare for after using the wizard?

- A. The wizard will automatically create all necessary supporting services.
- B. The service will include all possible settings for every service type.
- C. They will need to make further edits to fine-tune the service process.

Answer: C

Explanation:

After using the full-service wizard, administrators will typically need to fine-tune the service by editing configurations such as authentication methods, enforcement policies, and role mappings.

The wizard provides a strong baseline setup, but adjustments are often necessary to meet the specific requirements of the device type or network policy.

NEW QUESTION # 131

Which two methods are commonly used by ClearPass to discover and profile endpoints?

(Choose two)

Response:

- A. DHCP fingerprinting
- B. SNMP polling
- C. SQL queries
- D. NTP time requests

Answer: A,B

NEW QUESTION # 132

A network administrator is troubleshooting an issue where endpoints are not receiving updated enforcement decisions after a second authentication. What is the most likely configuration change needed?

- A. Increase the frequency of the posture checks.
- B. Disable endpoint re-authentication.
- C. Disable the "Use Cached Results" on enforcement tab.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The most likely fix is to disable the "Use Cached Results" option on the Enforcement tab. When caching is enabled, ClearPass may reuse previous enforcement decisions, preventing updated policies from being applied after re-authentication. Disabling this ensures that each authentication request is freshly evaluated against current posture and policy data.

NEW QUESTION # 133

A company has recently shifted to a zero-trust model and is facing challenges with its legacy network infrastructure, which was not designed for such a model. The company is particularly concerned about the security of its network as it accommodates a growing number of remote users and IoT devices. What solution could help them create role-based access policies and ensure continuous, closed-loop security across their network?

- A. Adding more traditional firewalls to strengthen the network perimeter.
- B. Implementing ClearPass to enable role-based access policies and device profiling.
- C. Deploying additional VPNs for remote user access.

Answer: B

Explanation:

ClearPass supports a zero-trust architecture by enabling role-based access control (RBAC), continuous device profiling, and context-aware policy enforcement. This ensures that every user and device - whether on-site, remote, or IoT - is authenticated and authorized dynamically, maintaining continuous, closed-loop network security.

NEW QUESTION # 134

What is the main risk associated with evaluating posture in role mappings instead of enforcement rules?

- A. Potential conflicts between role mappings and enforcement rules.
- B. Increased processing time for posture evaluation.
- C. Evaluating against cached attributes instead of the most current attributes.

Answer: C

Explanation:

When posture is evaluated in role mappings, ClearPass uses cached posture attributes rather than the most current ones. This can result in outdated or inaccurate posture assessments, leading to improper access decisions. Evaluating posture in enforcement rules ensures the system uses real-time attribute data.
