Value Stream Mapping (VSM) is a powerful tool used to assess an organization's effectiveness at creating, capturing, and delivering value for different stakeholders. It involves mapping out the entire process of value creation from end to end, identifying each step involved, and analyzing how value is added at each stage.

VSM helps in identifying bottlenecks, inefficiencies, and opportunities for improvement, ultimately aiming to optimize the value delivery process to better meet stakeholder needs.

- A. Business Capability/Value Stream Mapping
- B. Business Relationships diagram
- C. Business Capability Map
- D. Business Capabilities Layer diagram

Answer: C

Explanation:

The diagram presented is best described as a Business Capability Map. Here's a detailed explanation:

* Business Capability Map:

* Definition: A Business Capability Map represents the various capabilities an organization requires to deliver its products and services and achieve its strategic objectives. It typically categorizes capabilities into different levels or tiers, such as strategic, core, and supporting capabilities.

* Layers and Groupings: The diagram shows capabilities grouped into three categories: Strategic, Core, and Supporting. Each group lists specific business capabilities necessary for the organization's functioning.

* Color Coding: The use of different colors (green, red, yellow, purple) may indicate various aspects such as priority, status, or different business units. However, the primary purpose is to visually represent and categorize capabilities.

* TOGAF References:

* Phase B: Business Architecture: In this phase, creating a Business Capability Map is a crucial activity. It helps in understanding the business functions and aligning them with strategic goals.

* Capability-Based Planning: TOGAF promotes capability-based planning, which involves identifying, mapping, and analyzing business capabilities to ensure they support the overall strategy and objectives.

* Purpose and Benefits:

* Strategic Alignment: The Business Capability Map helps in aligning business capabilities with the strategic objectives of the organization. It provides a clear view of what the organization needs to do to achieve its goals.

* Resource Allocation: By understanding the different capabilities, organizations can allocate resources more effectively to areas that need development or enhancement.

- D. communicate the fundamental rule

NEW QUESTION # 55

Which of the following is a difference between an organization map and an organization chart?

- A. An organization map reduces the time, cost, and risk of business operations.
- B. An organization map is limited to formal relationships between business units.
- C. An organization map highlights where in the organization that stakeholder concerns are not being addressed by a business architecture.
- D. An organization map can be impacted by a business model change.

Answer: C

Explanation:

An organization map is a technique that can be used to show how a business architecture addresses stakeholder concerns across different parts of an organization³. It can highlight gaps or overlaps in the coverage of stakeholder concerns by a business architecture. An organization chart, on the other hand, is a diagram that shows the formal structure and hierarchy of an organization, such as reporting relationships and roles⁴. An organization chart does not necessarily show how stakeholder concerns are addressed by a business architecture.

An organization map differs from an organization chart in that it is designed to show more than just the formal hierarchy and relationships between different units within an organization. It provides a view of the enterprise from the perspective of the business architecture, highlighting areas where stakeholder concerns might not be addressed effectively, whereas an organization chart typically shows the formal reporting structures only.

NEW QUESTION # 56

When developing a Business Architecture, which of the following best describes the approach to take if no Architecture Descriptions exist?

- A. Identify the business goals, business objectives, and drivers for the enterprise
- B. Information should be gathered, and Business Architecture models developed.
- C. Validate the business principles and update the Statement of Architecture Work.
- D. Review the contents of the Architecture Repository.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the absence of existing Architecture Descriptions, the development of a Business Architecture would begin with the gathering of relevant information about the business. This information can come from strategic documents, business plans, process documents, and stakeholder interviews, among other sources. Once gathered, this information would be used to create Business Architecture models that articulate the business vision, strategy, governance, organization, and key business processes. These models provide a blueprint that captures the essence of the business and guides subsequent architecture work.
