NEW QUESTION # 202

You have a Microsoft 365 E5 tenant.

You have sensitivity labels as shown in the Sensitivity Labels exhibit. (Click the Sensitivity Labels tab.)

The Confidential/External sensitivity label is configured to encrypt files and emails when applied to content.

The sensitivity labels ate published as shown in the Published exhibit. (Click the Published tab.)

For each of the following statements, select Yes if the statement is true. Otherwise, select No.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Step 1 - Review what's configured

Labels: Public, General, Confidential, Internal, External.

Also shown in policy: Confidential/Internal and Confidential/External.

Policy setting: Users must provide justification to remove a label or lower its classification.

Confidential/External # encrypts content when applied.

Step 2 - Analyze each statement

Statement 1: The Internal sensitivity label inherits all the settings from the Confidential label.

Sub-labels (e.g., Confidential/Internal, Confidential/External) do not inherit settings from the parent.

They are independent labels grouped under a parent for organization, but each sub-label must have its own protection settings defined.

Statement 2: Users must provide justification if they change the label of content from Confidential/Internal to Confidential/External.

The policy requires justification only when removing a label or downgrading classification (lowering).

Changing between two sub-labels of the same parent (Confidential/Internal # Confidential/External) is considered a lateral move (not a downgrade).

Statement 3: Content that has the Confidential/External label applied will retain the encryption settings if the sensitivity label is removed from the label policy.

If a label is removed from a published policy, content already labeled retains its protection settings (such as encryption).

The label metadata stays applied to the file/email, even if unpublished.
