- A. It is active for all images and videos
- B. Users with operator privileges can deactivate it
- C. It comes in 12 different colors
- D. It can be activated and deactivated per stream profile

Answer: D

Explanation:

NEW QUESTION # 68

What type of camera is recommended to be used in an extremely hot environment?

- A. Cameras that end with -R
- B. Cameras that end with -C
- C. Cameras that end with -V
- D. Cameras that end with -E

Answer: D

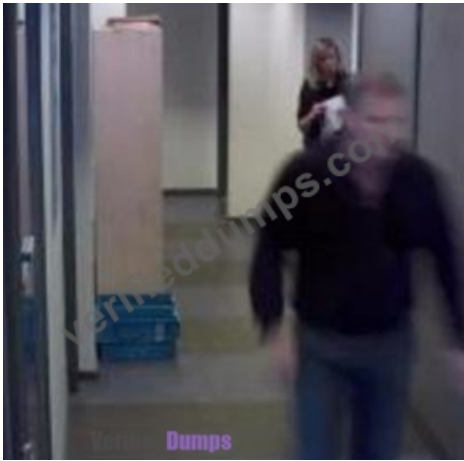

Explanation:

Axis cameras that have model numbers ending with -E are specifically designed for extreme environments, including those with high temperatures. These cameras are built to withstand harsh conditions and provide reliable performance in challenging environments. The -E designation indicates enhanced durability and temperature tolerance, making them suitable for installations in locations where standard cameras might fail.

Axis Network Video documentation highlights the features and specifications of these ruggedized camera models.

NEW QUESTION # 69

Looking at the picture below, which setting would best address the blurring that's occurring with faster moving objects?

- A. Uncheck backlight compensation
- B. Increase image brightness
- C. Increase image contrast
- D. Adjust the exposure settings

Answer: D

Explanation:

To address the blurring that's occurring with faster moving objects in the image, adjusting the exposure settings is the best option. Specifically, reducing the exposure time (shutter speed) will help in capturing clearer images of fast-moving objects by reducing motion blur. This adjustment allows the camera to capture less light per frame, effectively freezing the motion and reducing the blur associated with movement.

NEW QUESTION # 70

What is the benefit of deinterlacing the video in a video encoder?

- A. It gives the encoded video a higher frame rate compared to the analog input video
- B. It reduces the tearing effects when there is movement between two fields in one frame
- C. It enhances the dynamic range between two fields in one frame
- D. It decreases the bandwidth needed to transmit the compressed video

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 71

Which setting would best adjust a hard yellow tint as shown in the pictures below?

- A. White balance
- B. Color saturation
- C. Image contrast
- D. Image brightness

Answer: A

Explanation:

The setting that would best adjust a hard yellow tint in the images is the white balance. Adjusting the white balance corrects color casts by accounting for the color temperature of the light source, thereby producing more natural colors in the image. In the example images, modifying the white balance would neutralize the yellow tint and restore accurate colors. Axis cameras have white balance settings that can be adjusted manually or set to automatic for optimal color representation. Further details can be found in Axis Communications' camera setup and image optimization documentation.
