Answer: B,D

Explanation:
Explanation

ITSI provides a `kvstore_to_json.py` script that lets you backup/restore ITSI configuration data, perform bulk service KPI operations, apply time zone offsets for ITSI objects, and regenerate KPI search schedules. When you run a backup job, ITSI saves your data to a set of JSON files compressed into a single ZIP file.

NEW QUESTION # 95

Which glass table feature can be used to toggle displaying KPI values from more than one service on a single widget?

- A. Service swapping.
- B. Service dependencies.
- C. Service templates.
- D. Ad-hoc search.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Reference: <https://docs.splunk.com/Documentation/ITSI/4.10.2/SI/Visualizations#collapseDesktop8> A glass table is a visualization tool that allows you to monitor the interrelationships and dependencies across your IT and business services. You can add metrics like KPIs, ad hoc searches, and service health scores that update in real time against a background that you design. One of the features of glass tables is service swapping, which enables you to toggle displaying KPI values from more than one service on a single widget.

You can use service swapping to compare metrics across different services without creating multiple glass tables or widgets.

NEW QUESTION # 97

Which of the following is a problem requiring correction in ITSI?

- A. Two more entities with the same entity key value in any info field.
- B. Two more entities with the same value in a single alias field.
- C. Two more entities with the same service ID.
- D. Two more entities with the same entity ID.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Splunk IT Service Intelligence (ITSI), entities represent infrastructure components, applications, or other elements that are monitored. Each entity is uniquely identified by its entity ID, and entities can be associated with one or more services through the concept of aliases. A problem arises when two or more entities have the same value in a single alias field because aliases are used to match events to entities in ITSI. If multiple entities share the same alias value, ITSI might incorrectly associate data with the wrong entity, leading to inaccurate monitoring and analytics. This scenario requires correction to ensure that each alias uniquely identifies a single entity, thereby maintaining the integrity of the monitoring and analysis process within ITSI.

The uniqueness of service IDs, entity IDs, and entity key values in info fields is also important but does not typically present the same level of issue as duplicate values in an alias field.

NEW QUESTION # 98

Which of the following is part of setting up a new aggregation policy?

- A. Review order
- B. Filtering criteria
- C. Policy version
- D. Module rules

Answer: B

Explanation:

When setting up a new aggregation policy in Splunk IT Service Intelligence (ITSI), one of the crucial components is defining the filtering criteria. This aspect of the aggregation policy determines which events should be included in the aggregation based on specific conditions or attributes. The filtering criteria can be based on various event fields such as severity, source, event type, and other custom fields relevant to the organization's monitoring strategy. By specifying the filtering criteria, ITSI administrators can ensure that the aggregation policy is applied only to the pertinent events, thus facilitating more targeted and effective event management and reducing noise in the operational environment. This helps in organizing and prioritizing events more efficiently, enhancing the overall incident management process within ITSI.
