Nutanix Certified Professional - Multicloud Infrastructure (NCP-MCI v6.10) Sample Questions (Q134-Q139):

NEW QUESTION # 134
Upon reaching the maximum instances of retained reports, what occurs?

- A. Reporting failure is reported.
- B. Manual deletion is required.
- C. New reporting is delayed.
- D. Oldest report is deleted

Answer: D

Explanation:
When the maximum instance count of retained reports is reached, Nutanix automatically deletes the oldest report to accommodate the new one.
From theNutanix Enterprise Cloud Administration (ECA)course materials:
"To ensure storage and performance efficiency, Nutanix reporting limits the number of stored reports. If this maximum is reached, the oldest report instance is automatically deleted to make space for new reports."

NEW QUESTION # 135

Per organizational requirements, an administrator has uploaded a signed SSL certificate to Prism for Common Access Card (CAC) authentication.

Once the certificate has been uploaded successfully, the certificate appears to be valid but CAC authentication is not functional.

What is a potential cause of this problem?

- A. Signature Algorithm is incorrect.
- B. RSA key size is incorrect.
- C. There is no Certificate Revocation List (CRL) configured.
- D. Online Certificate Status Protocol (OCSP) is not enabled.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 136

Refer to Exhibit:

In a scale-out Prism Central deployment, what additional functionality does configuring an FQDN instead of a Virtual IP provide?

- A. Segmentation
- B. SSL Certificate
- C. Load balancing
- D. Resiliency

Answer: C

Explanation:

When using FQDN instead of a Virtual IP in a scale-out Prism Central deployment, Nutanix enables load balancing across multiple Prism Central instances.

* Option A (Load balancing) is correct because it ensures that requests are distributed among multiple Prism Central nodes, improving performance and redundancy.

* Option B (Resiliency) is incorrect because resiliency is achieved through HA and replication, not through FQDN configuration.

* Option C (Segmentation) is incorrect because network segmentation is handled at the VLAN or security policy level.

* Option D (SSL Certificate) is incorrect because SSL certificates can be applied regardless of whether FQDN or Virtual IP is used.

NEW QUESTION # 137
What happens if an agent VM is powered off and then manually started on another host?

- A. Agent VM migrates back to the original host once it's powered on.
- B. Agent VM cannot be migrated back to the original host.
- C. Agent VM become unresponsive.
- D. Agent VM migrates to another host automatically

Answer: C

Explanation:
Agent VMs, such as CVMs (Controller VMs) or Witness VMs, have strict affinity and anti-affinity rules to ensure they remain on specific hosts and maintain data consistency and high availability. If an agent VM is powered off and then manually started on another host, it becomes unresponsive because it breaks these rules.
From the Nutanix Enterprise Cloud Administration (ECA) course materials:
"Agent VMs have specific configuration and affinity constraints. Manually starting them on another host violates these constraints, resulting in the agent VM becoming unresponsive to the cluster." Further clarification:
"The cluster expects the agent VM to be on a particular host. Moving it manually to another host breaks this expectation and causes the VM to be unable to properly join the cluster services, leading to an unresponsive state." Therefore, it is essential to avoid manually starting agent VMs on different hosts, as doing so can disrupt cluster services.
