Oracle Cloud Infrastructure 2025 Multicloud Architect Professional Sample Questions (Q18-Q23):

NEW QUESTION # 18

Which tasks are performed in the Azure portal when using Oracle Database@Azure?

- A. Configuring Oracle database homes
- B. Provisioning container and pluggable databases
- C. Managing and maintaining Exadata VM cluster and infrastructure
- D. Enabling Data Guard for database backups

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Oracle Database@Azure, the Azure portal is used for managing and maintaining Exadata VM clusters and infrastructure, aligning with its Azure-native management approach. Data Guard (Option A), database homes (Option B), and container/pluggable databases (Option D) are configured post-provisioning, often via database tools, not directly as portal tasks. Oracle's documentation specifies this infrastructure focus in Azure.

NEW QUESTION # 19

Which interface is available for you to provision Oracle Database@Azure Exadata Infrastructure?

- A. OCI console
- B. OCI Terraform scripts
- C. Azure portal and APIs
- D. Azure Terraform scripts

Answer: C

Explanation:

Oracle Database@Azure allows provisioning of Exadata Infrastructure through the Azure portal and APIs, integrating seamlessly with Azure's management ecosystem. The OCI console (Option A) and OCI Terraform scripts (Option B) are not used for this Azure-native service. Azure Terraform scripts (Option C) are possible but not the primary interface highlighted in Oracle's documentation, which emphasizes the Azure portal/APIs.

NEW QUESTION # 20

How does Oracle Database on Google Cloud simplify database management for customers?

- A. It automatically transfers all database management tasks to the Oracle Cloud Infrastructure console.
- B. It requires customers to use Oracle-specific management tools.
- C. OCI offers a management console within Google Cloud to simplify database management.
- D. It enables customers to manage databases through the Google Cloud console or Google Cloud automation tools.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 21

What is a key benefit of using Oracle Autonomous Database on Shared Exadata Infrastructure?

- A. Enhanced physical security of hardware
- B. Unlimited storage capacity
- C. Seamless integration with third-party cloud providers
- D. Automatic database tuning and patching

Answer: D

Explanation:

A primary benefit of Oracle Autonomous Database on Shared Exadata Infrastructure is its ability to automatically tune and patch the database, reducing manual administration and improving performance and security. Option B is unrelated to the shared infrastructure model, Option C exaggerates storage (it's scalable, not unlimited), and Option D is a general infrastructure feature, not specific to Autonomous Database. Oracle's documentation highlights automation as a core advantage.

NEW QUESTION # 22

What is the first action that needs to be completed during the onboarding of Oracle Database@Azure?

- A. An active Azure subscription is linked with the OCI tenancy for billing purposes.
- B. Linking the OCI account is recommended (but optional) during onboarding to avoid logging in to the OCI account by manually providing credentials each time.
- C. The customer consults Oracle Sales for a price agreement, which is then created as a Private Offer in the Azure marketplace by Oracle to be purchased by the customer.

- D. The onboarding step is preceded by a private offer purchase from the Oracle Private Offer marketplace.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The initial step in onboarding Oracle Database@Azure is establishing a commercial agreement. This involves:

Contacting Oracle Sales: The customer first engages with Oracle Sales to discuss their requirements and negotiate pricing.

Private Offer Creation: Based on the agreed-upon terms, Oracle creates a Private Offer within the Azure Marketplace. This private offer is specifically tailored to the customer's needs and pricing.

Private Offer Purchase: The customer then purchases this private offer through the Azure Marketplace, formally establishing the commercial relationship for using Oracle Database@Azure.

This process ensures that the customer has a clear understanding of the costs and terms associated with the service before proceeding with any technical setup.

Why the other options are incorrect:

- a). Linking the OCI account is recommended (but optional) during onboarding to avoid logging in to the OCI account by manually providing credentials each time: Linking an OCI account is beneficial for certain management tasks and integration, but it's not the first step in the onboarding process. The commercial agreement must be in place first.
- b). An active Azure subscription is linked with the OCI tenancy for billing purposes: While billing is eventually handled through Azure, the initial step is establishing the commercial agreement through the private offer. The linking of subscriptions happens later in the process.
- d). The onboarding step is preceded by a private offer purchase from the Oracle Private Offer marketplace: While the purchase is necessary, it's preceded by the consultation with Oracle Sales and the creation of the private offer itself.
