NEW QUESTION # 76

You use GitHub for source control of .NET applications.

You need to deploy a documentation solution that meets the following requirements:

- * Documents will be written in Markdown as developers make code changes
- * Changes to the documents will trigger the recompilation of a static website.
- * Users will access the documents from the static websites
- * Documents will be stored in a GitHub repository

Which two tools can you use to compile the website? Each correct answer presents a complete solution.

- A. Jekyll
- B. DocFX
- C. Medium
- D. caret
- E. WordPress

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

Explanation

Jekyll is a static site generator that can be used to generate a static website from Markdown files stored in a GitHub repository.

Jekyll supports the use of Markdown for writing documentation, and it can automatically recompile the website whenever changes are made to the documentation.

DocFX is another tool that can be used to compile a static website from Markdown files stored in a GitHub repository. It is an open-source tool that can be used to generate API documentation, reference documentation, and other types of documentation from source code and other files. DocFX supports the use of Markdown for writing documentation and it can automatically recompile the website whenever changes are made to the documentation.

NEW QUESTION # 77

Your company has two virtual machines that run Linux in a third-party public cloud.

You plan to use the company's Azure Automation State Configuration implementation to manage the two virtual machines and detect configuration drift.

You need to onboard the Linux virtual machines.

You install PowerShell Desired State Configuration (DSC) on the virtual machines, and then run register.py.

Which three actions should you perform next in sequence? To answer, move the actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.

□

Answer:

Explanation:

□

1 - Create a DSC metaconfiguration

- 2 - Copy the metaconfiguration to the virtual machines.
- 3 - Add the virtual machines as DSC nodes in Azure Automation.

NEW QUESTION # 80

You need to recommend a procedure to implement the build agent for Project1.

Which three actions should you recommend be performed in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.

Answer:

Explanation:

☐ Explanation:

☐ Scenario:

☐ Step 1: Sign in to Azure Develops by using an account that is assigned the Administrator service connection security role.

Note: Under Agent Phase, click Deploy Service Fabric Application. Click Docker Settings and then click Configure Docker settings. In Registry Credentials Source, select Azure Resource Manager Service Connection. Then select your Azure subscription.

Step 2: Create a personal access token..

A personal access token or PAT is required so that a machine can join the pool created with the Agent Pools (read, manage) scope.

Step 3: Install and register the Azure Pipelines agent on an Azure virtual machine.

By running a Azure Pipeline agent in the cluster, we make it possible to test any service, regardless of type.
