Google Cloud Digital Leader Sample Questions (Q58-Q63):

NEW QUESTION # 58
How should a multinational organization that is migrating to Google Cloud consider security and privacy regulations to ensure that it is in compliance with global standards?

- A. Comply with regional standards for data security and privacy, because they supersede all international regulations
- B. Comply with regional data security regulations, because they're more complex than privacy standards
- C. Comply with international standards for data security and privacy, because they supersede all regional regulations
- D. Comply with data security and privacy regulations in each geographical region

Answer: D

Explanation:
Comply with data security and privacy regulations in each geographical region For a multi-national corporation, they need to abide not just by international laws, but also regional laws where they do business.

NEW QUESTION # 59
What are the network requirements for Private Google Access?

- A. Private Google Access automatically enables any API.
- B. None of the Above
- C. Your network must have appropriate routes for the destination IP ranges used by Google APIs and services.
- D. Both A and B

Answer: C

Explanation:
Network requirements for Private Google Access:
- Because Private Google Access is enabled on a per-subnet basis, you must use a VPC network. Legacy networks are not supported because they don't support subnets.
- Private Google Access does not automatically enable any API. You must separately enable the Google APIs you need to use via the APIs & services page in the Google Cloud Console.
- If you use the private.googleapis.com or the restricted.googleapis.com domain names, you'll need to create DNS records to direct traffic to the IP addresses associated with those domains.
- Your network must have appropriate routes for the destination IP ranges used by Google APIs and services. These routes must use the default internet gateway next hop. If you use the private.googleapis.com or the restricted.googleapis.com domain names, you only need one route (per domain). Otherwise, you'll need to create multiple routes.
- Egress firewalls must permit traffic to the IP address ranges used by Google APIs and services. The implied allow egress firewall rule satisfies this requirement. For other ways to meet the firewall requirement.

NEW QUESTION # 60
You are running a data warehouse on BigQuery. A partner company is offering a recommendation engine based on the data in your data warehouse. The partner company is also running their applica-tion on Google Cloud. They manage the resources in their own project, but they need access to the BigQuery dataset in your project. You want to provide the partner company with access to the da-taset. What should you do?

- A. Create a Service Account in your own project, and ask the partner to grant this Service Account access to BigQuery in their project.
- B. Ask the partner to create a Service Account in their project, and have them give the Service Account access to BigQuery in their project.
- C. Create a Service Account in your own project, and grant this Service Account ac-cess to BigQuery in your project.
- D. Ask the partner to create a Service Account in their project, and grant their Service Account access to the BigQuery dataset in your project.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Explanation
- if the need is to authenticate the application to access your dataset, it's the application's serice account that will be provided during the authentication, so the service account is to be created at their side to run the application
