NETA Level 2 Certified Assistant Electrical Testing Specialist Sample Questions (Q85-Q90):

NEW QUESTION # 85

When applying personal protective grounds, which connection must be made first?

- A. Phase conductor end
- B. Neutral conductor end
- C. Equipment end
- D. Ground source end

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct application of personal protective grounds is critical to worker safety and is strongly emphasized in NETA safety practices. When installing grounds, the equipment end must be attached first, ensuring the grounding conductor is securely bonded to earth or an effective ground source before any connection is made to energized or potentially energized conductors.

This sequence minimizes the risk of electric shock. If the phase conductor were connected first and the grounding system was not yet established, the worker could become the path to ground in the event of accidental energization. Once the equipment end is secured, phase conductors can be safely grounded.

When removing grounds, the reverse order is required: phase conductors are disconnected first, and the equipment end is removed last. NETA Level 2 technicians must follow this sequence consistently during maintenance, testing, and commissioning activities to ensure compliance with safety standards and prevent serious injury.

NEW QUESTION # 86

What is the primary purpose of the National Electrical Code (NEC)?

- A. To establish utility interconnection rules
- B. The practical safeguarding of persons and property from electrical hazards
- C. To standardize electrical testing procedures
- D. To regulate electrical worker training

Answer: B

Explanation:

The NEC exists to provide practical safeguards against electrical hazards that can cause injury, fire, or property damage. It is not a design manual, testing standard, or training guide, but a safety code intended to minimize risk through installation requirements. NETA Level 2 technicians must understand that testing and commissioning activities support the NEC's safety intent. Verifying grounding, bonding, overcurrent protection, clearances, and labeling helps ensure installations meet the NEC's fundamental objective of protecting people and property from electrical hazards.

NEW QUESTION # 87

Why should lint-free rags be used when cleaning circuit breaker components?

- A. Lint prevents corrosion
- B. Lint increases dielectric strength
- C. Lint improves lubrication retention
- D. Lint attracts dust and contamination

Answer: D

Explanation:

Lint fibers can attract dust, moisture, and contaminants, which may degrade insulation and interfere with mechanical movement. NETA Level 2 technicians are expected to maintain cleanliness during maintenance and testing activities to prevent introducing foreign material that could affect breaker performance or reliability.

NEW QUESTION # 88

What is the primary advantage of aluminum bus bar compared to copper?

- A. Higher conductivity
- B. Lower thermal expansion
- C. Lower cost
- D. Higher melting point

Answer: C

Explanation:

Aluminum bus bar is widely used due to its lower cost and lighter weight compared to copper. While copper has higher conductivity, aluminum provides an economical alternative when properly sized and installed.

NETA Level 2 technicians must recognize material properties when inspecting bus systems and evaluating resistance measurements.

NEW QUESTION # 89

Write three thousand forty-eight ten-thousandths in decimal form.

- A. 0.0348
- B. 0.3048
- C. 30.48
- D. 3.048

Answer: B

Explanation:

Ten-thousandths represent four decimal places. Three thousand forty-eight ten-thousandths equals:

$$3048 \div 10,000 = 0.3048$$

NETA Level 2 technicians must be comfortable with decimal placement and numerical interpretation because testing instruments frequently display values in decimal form. Misplacing a decimal point can lead to serious errors when evaluating resistance, voltage, current, or insulation values.
