CertNexus Certified Artificial Intelligence Practitioner (CAIP) Sample Questions (Q70-Q75):

NEW QUESTION # 70

Which of the following principles supports building an ML system with a Privacy by Design methodology?

- A. Collecting and processing the largest amount of data possible.
- B. Avoiding mechanisms to explain and justify automated decisions.
- C. Understanding, documenting, and displaying data lineage.
- D. Utilizing quasi-identifiers and non-unique identifiers, alone or in combination.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

Data lineage is the process of tracking the origin, transformation, and usage of data throughout its lifecycle. It helps to ensure data quality, integrity, and provenance. Data lineage also supports the Privacy by Design methodology, which is a framework that aims to embed privacy principles into the design and operation of systems, processes, and products that involve personal data. By understanding, documenting, and displaying data lineage, an ML system can demonstrate how it collects, processes, stores, and deletes personal data in a transparent and accountable manner³.

NEW QUESTION # 71

Which of the following can take a question in natural language and return a precise answer to the question?

- A. Pandas
- B. Spark ML
- C. IBM Watson
- D. Databricks

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

IBM Watson is an AI technology that can take a question in natural language and return a precise answer to the question. IBM Watson is a cognitive computing system that can understand natural language, generate hypotheses, and provide evidence-based answers. IBM Watson can be applied to various domains and industries, such as healthcare, education, finance, or law.

NEW QUESTION # 72

A product manager is designing an Artificial Intelligence (AI) solution and wants to do so responsibly, evaluating both positive and negative outcomes.

The team creates a shared taxonomy of potential negative impacts and conducts an assessment along vectors such as severity, impact, frequency, and likelihood.

Which modeling technique does this team use?

- A. Business
- B. Process
- C. Harms
- D. Threat

Answer: C

Explanation:

Harms modeling is a technique that helps product managers design AI solutions responsibly by evaluating both positive and negative outcomes. Harms modeling involves creating a shared taxonomy of potential negative impacts and conducting an assessment along vectors such as severity, impact, frequency, and likelihood. Harms modeling can help identify and mitigate any risks or harms that may arise from using AI solutions. NEW QUESTION # 73

R-squared is a statistical measure that:

- A. Is the proportion of the variance for a dependent variable that's explained by independent variables.
- B. Combines precision and recall of a classifier into a single metric by taking their harmonic mean.
- C. Expresses the extent to which two variables are linearly related.

- D. Represents the extent to which two random variables vary together.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

R-squared is a statistical measure that indicates how well a regression model fits the data. R-squared is calculated by dividing the explained variance by the total variance. The explained variance is the amount of variation in the dependent variable that can be attributed to the independent variables. The total variance is the amount of variation in the dependent variable that can be observed in the data. R-squared ranges from 0 to 1, where 0 means no fit and 1 means perfect fit.

NEW QUESTION # 74

A change in the relationship between the target variable and input features is

- A. covariate shift.
- B. concept drift.
- C. model decay.
- D. data drift.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

Concept drift, also known as model drift, occurs when the task that the model was designed to perform changes over time. For example, imagine that a machine learning model was trained to detect spam emails based on the content of the email. If the types of spam emails that people receive change significantly, the model may no longer be able to accurately detect spam.
