NEW QUESTION # 26

You have been asked to create robust Virtual Private Network (VPN) connectivity between a new Virtual Private Cloud (VPC) and a remote site. Key requirements include dynamic routing, a shared address space of 10.19.0.1/22, and no overprovisioning of tunnels during a failover event.

You want to follow Google-recommended practices to set up a high availability Cloud VPN. What should you do?

- A. Use a custom mode VPC network, configure static routes, and use active/passive routing
- B. Use a custom mode VPC network use Cloud Router border gateway protocol (86P) routes, and use active/passive routing
- C. Use an automatic mode VPC network, use Cloud Router border gateway protocol (BGP) routes and configure policy-based routing
- D. Use an automatic mode VPC network, configure static routes, and use active/active routing

Answer: B

Explanation:

Choose a Cloud VPN gateway that uses dynamic routing and the Border Gateway Protocol (BGP). Google recommends using HA VPN and deploying on-premises devices that support BGP.

Choose the appropriate tunnel configuration

Choose the appropriate tunnel configuration based on the number of HA VPN gateways:

- If you have a single HA VPN gateway, use an active/passive tunnel configuration.
- If you have more than one HA VPN gateway, use an active/active tunnel configuration.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Your company uses Pub/Sub for event-driven workloads. You have a subscription named email-updates attached to the new-orders topic. You need to fetch and acknowledge waiting messages from this subscription. What should you do?

- A. Use the `gcloud pubsub topics list-subscriptions new-orders -l filter="email-updates"` command.
- B. Use the `gcloud pubsub subscriptions pull email-updates -auto-ack` command.
- C. Use the `gcloud pubsub topics describe new-orders` command.
- D. Use the `gcloud pubsub subscriptions seek email-updates` command.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The goal is to pull (fetch) messages from a subscription and acknowledge them.

* The `gcloud pubsub subscriptions pull` command retrieves messages from a specified subscription.

* The `--auto-ack` flag instructs the command to automatically acknowledge the messages after they are successfully retrieved, combining the two required actions into one command.

Reference: Google Cloud Documentation - `gcloud pubsub subscriptions pull`:

"Pulls one or more messages from the specified subscription. To acknowledge the pulled messages, use the `-- auto-ack` flag."

NEW QUESTION # 28

You create a new Google Kubernetes Engine (GKE) cluster and want to make sure that it always runs a supported and stable version of Kubernetes. What should you do?

- A. Enable the Node Auto-Repair feature for your GKE cluster.
- B. Select the latest available cluster version for your GKE cluster.
- C. Enable the Node Auto-Upgrades feature for your GKE cluster.
- D. Select "Container-Optimized OS (cos)" as a node image for your GKE cluster.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Creating or upgrading a cluster by specifying the version as latest does not provide automatic upgrades. Enable node auto-upgrades to ensure that the nodes in your cluster are up-to-date with the latest stable version.

<https://cloud.google.com/kubernetes-engine/versioning-and-upgrades>

Node auto-upgrades help you keep the nodes in your cluster up to date with the cluster master version when your master is updated on your behalf. When you create a new cluster or node pool with Google Cloud Console or the `gcloud` command, node auto-upgrade is enabled by default.

NEW QUESTION # 29

You are configuring service accounts for an application that spans multiple projects. Virtual machines (VMs) running in the web-applications project need access to BigQuery datasets in `crm-databases-proj`. You want to follow Google-recommended practices to give access to the service account in the web-applications project. What should you do?

- A. Give "project owner" role to `crm-databases-proj` and `bigquery.dataViewer` role to web-applications.
- B. Give `bigquery.dataViewer` role to `crm-databases-proj` and appropriate roles to web-applications.
- C. Give "project owner" for web-applications appropriate roles to `crm-databases-proj`
- D. Give "project owner" role to `crm-databases-proj` and the web-applications project.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Reference:

`bigquery.dataViewer` role provides permissions to read the datasets metadata and list tables in the dataset as well as Read data and metadata from the datasets tables. This is exactly what we need to fulfil this requirement and follows the least privilege principle.

Ref: <https://cloud.google.com/iam/docs/understanding-roles#bigquery-roles>

NEW QUESTION # 30

A colleague handed over a Google Cloud Platform project for you to maintain. As part of a security checkup, you want to review who has been granted the Project Owner role. What should you do?

- A. In the console, validate which SSH keys have been stored as project-wide keys.
- B. Navigate to Identity-Aware Proxy and check the permissions for these resources.
- C. Use the command `gcloud projects get-iam-policy` to view the current role assignments.
- D. Enable Audit Logs on the IAM & admin page for all resources, and validate the results.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A simple approach would be to use the command flags available when listing all the IAM policy for a given project. For instance, the following command: `gcloud projects get-iam-policy $PROJECT_ID`

`--flatten="bindings[].members" --format="table(bindings.members)" --filter="bindings.role:roles/owner"` outputs all the users and service accounts associated with the role 'roles/owner' in the project in question. <https://groups.google.com/g/google-cloud-dev/c/Z6sZs7TvygQ?pli=1>
