* Freight order (A): Change controller strategies are used to manage modifications to freight orders, such as adding charges or updating quantities, ensuring proper handling in execution.

This functionality is available in the transportation cockpit to ensure alignment with transportation requirements and constraints.

The other options are incorrect:

* Forwarding order (B) is used for logistics service provider scenarios and does not typically support forward and backward scheduling in the transportation cockpit.

* Sales order (C) originates in sales and distribution and is not directly scheduled in the transportation cockpit.
