CompTIA Tech+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q104-Q109):

NEW QUESTION # 104

Which of the following data types would be best for storing data representing a phone number?

- A. Integer
- B. Float
- C. String
- D. Char

Answer: C

Explanation:

A phone number is best stored as a string because it may include leading zeros, parentheses, dashes, or plus signs, which are not handled properly by numeric data types like integers or floats.

Other options:

*Integer and float are numeric types unsuitable for formatted phone numbers,

*Char holds only a single character.

NEW QUESTION # 105

A company implements a tool to allow employees to conduct meetings over the internet. Which of the following tools did the company implement?

- A. Conferencing software
- B. Document sharing
- C. Remote assistance
- D. Web browsing

Answer: A

Explanation:

Conferencing software (e.g., Zoom, Microsoft Teams, Webex) enables users to conduct meetings online using audio, video, and screen sharing.

"Conferencing software facilitates real-time communication and collaboration over the internet through audio and video." - CompTIA ITF+ Applications and Software Correct answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 106

Which of the following internet services traditionally has the most challenges with latency?

- A. Fiber
- B. DSL

- C. Cable
- D. Satellite

Answer: D

Explanation:

Satellite internet typically suffers from higher latency due to the long distances signals must travel to orbit and back. Even with high download speeds, the time delay in communication is significant.

"Satellite internet often experiences high latency due to the long signal travel time between Earth and orbiting satellites." - CompTIA ITF+ Networking Concepts Correct answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 107

Which of the following does a diamond represent in a flowchart?

- A. Stop
- B. Decision
- C. Start
- D. Processing

Answer: B

Explanation:

In a flowchart, a diamond shape represents a decision point, where the flow branches based on a yes/no or true/false condition.

Other options:

*Start and Stop are usually represented by ovals,

*Processing steps are shown as rectangles.

NEW QUESTION # 108

Which of the following is the most important consideration when opening a file on an OS GUI?

- A. Data compression
- B. Backup policy
- C. File extension
- D. Default permissions

Answer: C

Explanation:

The most important consideration when opening a file on an Operating System Graphical User Interface (OS GUI) is the file extension. A file extension identifies the type of file and determines which software application can open it. In the official CompTIA ITF+ Student Guide, it is stated that:

"The last part of the file name represents an extension, which describes what type of file it is and is used by Windows to associate the file with an application."

"Files are usually opened by double-clicking them. You may want to open a file in a software product other than the default, however. When you right-click a file, the shortcut menu displays a list of suitable choices, or you can choose Open With and browse for a different application. You can also use the Default Programs applet to configure file associations."

"Do not change a file's extension if it is shown. If you delete or change the extension, the file will not be associated with the correct program for opening it." This means the OS uses the file extension to decide which application to use to open a file. Changing or deleting the extension can result in the file not opening properly because it no longer matches the program expected to open it.
