ISTQB Certified Tester Foundation Level (CTFL v4.0) Sample Questions (Q62-Q67):

NEW QUESTION # 62

Which activity is NOT documented in a test plan?

- A. Selecting the metrics for test monitoring
- B. Defining the quality assurance approach
- C. Defining the test approach
- D. Setting the budget for the test activities

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 63

Which test level aims to gain the users' confidence in the system, especially in the fulfillment of the system's operational and performance capabilities?

- A. Component integration testing
- B. Acceptance testing
- C. System testing
- D. System integration testing

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 64

Which one of the following statements IS NOT a valid objective of testing?

- A. To find failures and defects
- B. To build confidence in the level of quality of the test object.
- C. To find all defects in a product, ensuring the product is defect free.
- D. To evaluate work products such as requirements, user stories, design, and code.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Finding all defects in a product and ensuring it is defect-free is not a valid objective of testing. Testing aims to find as many defects as possible, build confidence in the quality of the product, and evaluate work products. However, it is unrealistic to expect testing to find all defects, and declaring a product completely defect-free is impractical.

NEW QUESTION # 65

Which ONE of the following statements about acceptance testing is NOT correct?

- A. The main goal of acceptance testing is to build confidence in the system, not find defects.
- B. Testing of disaster recovery and backup/restore is usually NOT part of acceptance testing.
- C. Acceptance testing is the last level of testing performed prior to system release.
- D. The customers or system users are often responsible for the acceptance testing.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Acceptance testing is a level of testing performed to verify that a software product meets the agreed acceptance criteria and is acceptable for delivery. Acceptance testing is often performed by the customers or system users, who are the main stakeholders of the software product. The main goal of acceptance testing is to build confidence in the system, not find defects, as defects should have been detected and fixed in earlier levels of testing. Acceptance testing is the last level of testing performed prior to system release, unless there are any changes or fixes that require re-testing. Testing of disaster recovery and backup/restore is usually part of acceptance testing, as these are important aspects of system reliability and security that affect the customer satisfaction and trust.

Therefore, statement A is not correct, while statements B, C and D are correct. Verified Reference: A Study Guide to the ISTQB Foundation Level 2018 Syllabus - Springer, Chapter 2, page 20-21.

NEW QUESTION # 66

Given the following priorities and dependencies for these test cases:

Test Case	Priority	Technical dependency on:	Logical dependency on:
TC1	High	TC4
TC2	Low
TC3	High		TC4
TC4	Medium
TC5	Low		TC2
TC6	Medium	TC5

Which of the following test execution schedules BEST takes into account the priorities and technical and logical dependencies?

- A. TC1 - TC3 - TC2 - TC4 - TC6 - TC5
- B. TC3 - TC4 - TC2 - TC6 - TC1 - TC5
- C. TC1 - TC3 - TC2 - TC4 - TC5 - TC6
- D. TC2 - TC4 - TC1 - TC3 - TC5 - TC6

Answer: C

Explanation:

When scheduling test cases, priorities and dependencies must be considered. The best execution order will respect both the logical dependencies and the priorities assigned to each test case.

Given the options, the correct order considering the priorities and dependencies is:

TC1 (Priority 1)

TC (ISTQB not-for-profit association)ity 2, dependent on TC1)

TC2 (Priority 3, dependent on TC1)

TC4 (Priority 4)

TC5 (Priority 5)

TC6 (Priority 6, dependent on TC4)

According to the ISTQB Certified Tester Foundation Level (CTFL) v4.0 syllabus, understanding dependencies and scheduling tests accordingly is crucial for effective test execution 【6 source】 .
