CompTIA Security+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q367-Q372):

NEW QUESTION # 367

Which of the following data protection strategies can be used to confirm file integrity?

- A. Hashing
- B. Masking
- C. Obfuscation
- D. Encryption

Answer: A

Explanation:

Hashing (C) is a one-way cryptographic function that produces a fixed-length digest representing the original data. If the file changes—even by one bit—the hash will change, making it ideal for verifying data integrity.

While encryption protects confidentiality, and masking/obfuscation protect data visibility, only hashing ensures integrity.

NEW QUESTION # 368

While conducting a business continuity tabletop exercise, the security team becomes concerned by potential impacts if a generator fails during failover. Which of the following is the team most likely to consider in regard to risk management activities?

- A. ARO
- B. MTTR
- C. RPO
- D. BIA

Answer: B

Explanation:

Mean Time to Repair (MTTR) is a key metric in risk management, reflecting the time required to repair a failed component, such as a generator, and restore operations.

NEW QUESTION # 369

Which of the following automation use cases would best enhance the security posture of an organization by rapidly updating permissions when employees leave a company?

- A. Disabling access
- B. Provisioning resources
- C. Escalating permission requests
- D. Reviewing change approvals

Answer: A

Explanation:

Disabling access is an automation use case that would best enhance the security posture of an organization by rapidly updating permissions when employees leave a company. Disabling access is the process of revoking or suspending the access rights of a user account, such as login credentials, email, VPN, cloud services, etc. Disabling access can prevent unauthorized or malicious use of the account by former employees or attackers who may have compromised the account. Disabling access can also reduce the attack surface and the risk of data breaches or leaks. Disabling access can be automated by using scripts, tools, or workflows that can trigger the action based on predefined events, such as employee termination, resignation, or transfer. Automation can ensure that the access is disabled in a timely, consistent, and efficient manner, without relying on manual intervention or human error.

NEW QUESTION # 370

A security consultant needs secure, remote access to a client environment. Which of the following should the security consultant most likely use to gain access?

- A. DHCP
- B. IPSec
- C. NAT
- D. EAP

Answer: B

Explanation:

IPSec is a protocol suite that provides secure communication over IP networks. IPSec can be used to create virtual private networks (VPNs) that encrypt and authenticate the data exchanged between two or more parties. IPSec can also provide data integrity, confidentiality, replay protection, and access control. A security consultant can use IPSec to gain secure, remote access to a client environment by establishing a VPN tunnel with the client's network.
