VMware 2V0-13.25 Exam Syllabus Topics:

Topic	Details
Topic 1	• Install, Configure, Administrate the VMware Solution: This section of the exam is relevant to System Administrators. Although it has no directly testable objectives, it underlines the expectation that candidates are familiar with installation, configuration, and administration tasks that form the foundation for VMware Cloud Foundation solutions.
Topic 2	• VMware Products and Solutions: This section of the exam evaluates the knowledge of VMware Solution Specialists and focuses on VMware Cloud Foundation (VCF). Candidates must be able to identify and differentiate between various VCF architecture options in given scenarios. The emphasis is on understanding the key products and how they integrate into enterprise design choices.

Topic 3	• IT Architectures, Technologies, Standards: This section of the exam measures the skills of IT Architects and covers the ability to distinguish business requirements from technical ones. It expects candidates to understand the differences between conceptual, logical, and physical designs while also differentiating requirements, assumptions, constraints, and risks. Core concepts of availability, manageability, performance, recoverability, and security (AMPRS) are tested. Learners also need to document risk mitigation strategies, design decisions, and create a validation strategy that ties requirements to practical implementation.
Topic 4	• Troubleshoot and Optimize the VMware Solution: This section of the exam measures the skills of Operations Engineers. There are no explicitly testable objectives provided in this domain, but candidates are expected to understand troubleshooting and optimization principles to maintain the VMware environment effectively in real-world deployments.
Topic 5	• Plan and Design the VMware Solution: This section measures the skills of Cloud Infrastructure Designers. It focuses on gathering and analyzing business requirements and then transforming them into conceptual, logical, and physical models of VMware Cloud Foundation. Candidates are expected to identify prerequisites and make design decisions across fleet topologies, networking, management domains, workload domains, automation, and operations. The section also includes designing for availability within and across zones, creating strategies for manageability such as lifecycle, scalability, and capacity, and ensuring performance and recoverability through BCDR strategies. Additional emphasis is given to designing secure environments, workload migration strategies, and creating consumption, automation, and monitoring strategies to support modern applications and governance.

- B. vSphere Distributed Switch (VDS)
- C. vSAN

NEW QUESTION # 67
During a requirements gathering workshop, several Business and Technical requirements were captured from the customer.
Which requirement will be classified as a Business Requirement?

- A. Data must be encrypted using AES-256 encryption.
- B. The system must support 10,000 concurrent users.
- C. The application must be compatible with Windows, macOS, and Linux operating systems.
- D. Reduce processing time for service requests by 30%.

Answer: D

Explanation:
In VMware's design methodology (aligned with VCF 5.2), requirements are categorized as Business Requirements (goals tied to organizational outcomes, often non-technical) or Technical Requirements (specific system capabilities or constraints). Let's classify each option:
Option A: Reduce processing time for service requests by 30%
This is a Business Requirement. It focuses on a business outcome-improving service request efficiency by a measurable percentage-without specifying how the system achieves it. The VMware Cloud Foundation 5.2 Architectural Guide classifies such high-level, outcome-driven goals as business requirements, as they reflect the customer's operational or strategic priorities rather than technical implementation details.
Option B: The system must support 10,000 concurrent users
This is a Technical Requirement. It specifies a measurable system capability (supporting 10,000 concurrent users), directly tied to performance and capacity. VMware documentation treats such quantifiable system behaviors as technical, focusing on "what" the system must do functionally.
Option C: Data must be encrypted using AES-256 encryption
This is a Technical Requirement. It mandates a specific technical implementation (AES-256 encryption) for security, a non-functional attribute. The VCF 5.2 Design Guide categorizes encryption standards as technical constraints or requirements, not business goals.
Option D: The application must be compatible with Windows, macOS, and Linux operating systems This is a Technical Requirement. It defines a functional capability-cross-platform compatibility- specifying technical details about the system's operation. VMware classifies such compatibility needs as technical, per the design methodology.
Conclusion:
Option A is the Business Requirement, as it aligns with a business goal (efficiency improvement) rather than a technical specification.
