The AZ-305 exam is an expert-level certification exam that requires a deep understanding of Azure infrastructure solutions, including virtual machines, storage solutions, networking, security, and Azure Resource Manager. AZ-305 exam covers a range of topics, such as managing Azure subscriptions and resources, implementing and managing storage solutions, configuring and managing virtual networks, and securing Azure resources.

Exam Details

In brief, the Microsoft AZ-305 exam is designed to assess your ability to monitor solutions, design identity, and governance, create data storage solutions, business continuity, and infrastructure solutions. It will include from 40 to 60 questions of different types, and will last either 100 or 120 minutes (depends on the inclusion of labs). If it includes labs, then its duration will be longer. To pass the exam you should score at least 700 points out of 1000. And of course, you need to pay an exam fee, which is now $165.

Microsoft AZ-305 Certification Exam is an advanced-level exam designed for IT professionals who want to become skilled in designing Microsoft Azure infrastructure solutions. It covers a wide range of topics, including compute, storage, networking, and security solutions in Azure, and is beneficial for IT professionals who want to advance their careers and gain recognition for their expertise in Azure infrastructure design. Candidates can prepare for the exam by studying the exam objectives, taking online or instructor-led training, and taking practice exams to assess their readiness.
