- A. Studio license and Orchestrator license.
- B. Just Test Manager license.
- C. Studio license and Test Manager license.
- D. Just Task Capture license

NEW QUESTION # 44
What is the difference between RPA testing and application testing?

- A. RPA testing involves checking the quality of robotic processes, whereas application testing checks the functionality of software applications.
- B. RPA testing checks the functionality of a software application, but application testing evaluates the performance of robots.
- C. RPA testing and application testing are the same thing, the term used simply depends on the specific software involved.
- D. RPA testing evaluates human interactions with software, while application testing checks robotic processes.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The key difference is that RPA testing focuses on verifying the quality and correctness of robotic processes (automations), while application testing verifies the functionality of the underlying software applications being automated.

NEW QUESTION # 45
By default, how are test executions sorted in Test Manager?

- A. Passed executions are placed at the top.
- B. Based on the date on which the execution was finished.

- C. Running and pending executions are placed at the bottom.
- D. Manual executions are placed at the top.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 46
How can activity coverage scenarios for different automation needs be created in UiPath?

- A. Use the same test case, but execute it in different workflows.
- B. Create one comprehensive test case that covers all scenarios in one execution.
- C. Alter the workflow to ensure a single test case covers all scenarios.
- D. Create separate test cases to cover each scenario during the execution.

Answer: D

Explanation:
To ensure thorough activity coverage in UiPath, it's best to create separate test cases for each automation scenario. This allows targeted validation, improves clarity in test results, and ensures that all logic branches are adequately tested.

NEW QUESTION # 47
A developer needs to design a coded automation that approves or denies a loan application based on the loan rate. How should the Execute() entry point method be declared if it needs to return the value for (IsLoanApproved), based on the loan rate (LoanRate)?

- B. public int Execute (bool IsLoanApproved)
- C. public (bool IsLoanApproved) Execute(int LoanRate)
- D. public bool Execute (bool IsLoanApproved, int loanRate)

Answer: D

Explanation:
The correct method signature for a coded automation in UiPath that needs to process input (loanRate) and return a value (IsLoanApproved) is:
public bool Execute(bool IsLoanApproved, int loanRate)
This follows the standard format where input parameters are passed to the method, and the result is returned via the method's return type.
