NEW QUESTION # 111

When should Agile Teams make time for innovation?

- A. At a consistent time each day during the Iteration
- B. When there are Enabler Stories in the Backlog
- C. Continuously throughout the Program Increment

Answer: C

Explanation:

According to the SAFe framework, Agile Teams should allocate time for innovation continuously throughout the Program Increment. This is facilitated through the Innovation and Planning (IP) Iteration, which is a dedicated iteration that occurs every Program Increment (PI). It provides an estimating buffer for meeting PI Objectives and dedicated time for innovation, continuing education, PI Planning, and Inspect and Adapt (I&A) events¹.

The IP Iteration serves as a regular, cadence-based opportunity for teams to engage in innovation and learning activities that are difficult to fit into a continuous, incremental value delivery pattern. This iteration allows for activities such as hackathons, where individuals can work on innovative ideas outside the usual constraints of their regular backlog and team construct. The outcomes from these hackathons often make their way into the ART Backlogs, driving innovations that benefit the business¹.

Furthermore, dedicating time to PI events during the IP Iteration ensures that the velocity of regular iterations is not reduced. This approach also enhances the predictability of PI performance and provides a buffer for meeting PI objectives¹.

NEW QUESTION # 115

What does assigning business value to a team's PI Objectives influence?

- A. How to achieve objectives
- B. How the Kanban work in process limits are set
- C. How teams plan the implementation

Answer: C

Explanation:

Assigning business value to PI Objectives influences how teams plan the implementation of these objectives.

During PI Planning, teams create PI objectives they intend to accomplish in the upcoming Program Increment (PI). These objectives provide a common language for communicating with business and technology stakeholders and create a near-term focus and vision. They enable the Agile Release Train (ART) to assess its performance and the business value achieved via the ART Predictability Measure. Moreover, setting realistic objectives helps avoid too much work-in-process (WIP) in the system, which is essential for effective implementation planning¹.

The process of assigning business value is facilitated by Business Owners during PI Planning. This is a critical activity because it helps teams prioritize their work based on the value it delivers to the business. The business value assigned to each PI Objective is a reflection of its importance to the stakeholders and the organization's goals. It guides the teams in decision-making and determining the necessary steps and resources required for the implementation of their objectives².

In summary, assigning business value to PI Objectives is a key practice in SAFe that directly impacts the way teams plan their work. It ensures that teams focus on delivering the highest value features and capabilities, which aligns with the overall strategy and objectives of the organization.
