EC-COUNCIL EC Council Certified Incident Handler (ECIH v3) Sample

Questions (Q58-Q63):

NEW QUESTION # 58

Which of the following is not the responsibility of first responders?

- A. Packaging and transporting the electronic evidence
- B. Preserving temporary and fragile evidence and then shut down or reboot the victim's computer
- C. Protecting the crime scene
- D. Identifying the crime scene

Answer: D

Explanation:

The responsibility of first responders does not include shutting down or rebooting the victim's computer as a measure to preserve temporary and fragile evidence. In fact, such actions can potentially alter or destroy volatile data that could be crucial for the investigation. The primary responsibilities of first responders include protecting and identifying the crime scene, and ensuring the preservation of evidence in its original state as much as possible, which may involve isolating affected systems from the network but not necessarily shutting them down or rebooting them without proper forensic readiness and consideration.
