NEW QUESTION # 15

MY_TABLE is a table that has not been updated or modified for several days. On 01 January 2021 at 07:01, a user executed a query to update this table. The query ID is '8e5d0ca9-005e-44e6-b858-a8f5b37c5726'. It is now 07:30 on the same day. Which queries will allow the user to view the historical data that was in the table before this query was executed? (Choose three.)

- A. `SELECT * FROM my_table AT(TIMESTAMP => '2021-01-01 07:00:00':timestamp);`
- B. `SELECT * FROM my_table PRIOR TO STATEMENT '8e5d0ca9-005e-44e6-b858-a8f5b37c5726';`
- C. `SELECT * FROM my_table BEFORE(STATEMENT => '8e5d0ca9-005e-44e6-b858-a8f5b37c5726');`
- D. `SELECT * FROM my_table AT(OFFSET => -60*30);`
- E. `SELECT * FROM TIME_TRAVEL('MY_TABLE', 2021-01-01 07:00:00);`
- F. `SELECT * FROM my_table WITH TIME TRAVEL(OFFSET => -60*30);`

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:

Use Time Travel to view past table versions: (B) selects the table "as of" 07:00 via AT(TIMESTAMP => ...); (E) selects "as of" 30 minutes earlier via AT(OFFSET => -60*30); (F) selects the state before the specified statement via BEFORE(STATEMENT => '<query_id>').

NEW QUESTION # 16

When adding secure views to a share in Snowflake, which function is needed to authorize users from another account to access rows in a base table?

- A. CURRENT ROLE
- B. CURRENT CLIENT
- C. CURRENT ACCOUNT
- D. CURRENT USER

Answer: C

Explanation:

When building secure views for data sharing, the CURRENT_ACCOUNT function is used to identify and authorize the consuming account. This ensures that row-level security can be enforced per consumer account accessing the shared data.

NEW QUESTION # 17

A Snowflake Administrator has a multi-cluster virtual warehouse and is using the Snowflake Business-Critical edition. The minimum number of clusters is set to 2 and the maximum number of clusters is set to 10. This configuration works well for the standard workload, rarely exceeding 5 running clusters. However, once a month the Administrator notes that there are a few complex long-running queries that are causing increased queue time and the warehouse reaches its maximum limit at 10 clusters.

Which solutions will address the issues happening once a month? (Choose two.)

- A. Have the group running the complex monthly queries use a separate appropriately-sized warehouse to support their workload.
- B. Increase the minimum number of clusters started in the multi-cluster configuration to 5.
- C. Examine the complex queries and determine if they can be made more efficient using clustering keys or materialized views.
- D. Use a task to increase the cluster size for the time period that the more complex queries are running and another task to reduce the size of the cluster once the complex queries complete.
- E. Increase the multi-cluster maximum to 20 or more clusters.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

The best way to handle the once-a-month complex workload is to use a separate, appropriately-sized warehouse dedicated to that workload and to optimize the complex queries with techniques like clustering keys or materialized views. These approaches resolve queuing and performance issues without overspending on always running more clusters.

NEW QUESTION # 18

In general, the monthly billing for database replication is proportional to which variables? (Choose two.)

- A. The amount of table data in the primary database that changes as a result of data loading or DML operations
- B. The frequency of changes to the primary database as a result of data loading or DML operations
- C. The frequency of the secondary database refreshes from the primary database
- D. The number and size of warehouses defined in the primary account
- E. The number of times data moves across regions and/or cloud service providers between the primary and secondary database accounts

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Replication billing is proportional to the amount of table data in the primary database that changes and needs to be replicated. The frequency of secondary database refreshes determines how often changed data is transferred, directly impacting replication costs.

NEW QUESTION # 19

Which tasks can be performed by the ORGADMIN role? (Choose three.)

- A. Create a reader account to share data with another organization.
- B. View usage information for all accounts in the organization.
- C. View a list of all regions enabled for the organization.
- D. Create one or more accounts in the organization.
- E. Perform zero-copy cloning on account data.
- F. Create secure views on application tables within the organization.

Answer: B,C,D

Explanation:

The ORGADMIN role can create accounts in the organization, view all enabled regions, and access usage information across all organization accounts. Creating secure views and zero-copy cloning are not ORGADMIN tasks. Reader accounts can be created, but only for sharing within the same organization, not with another organization.
