Health 免費考試真題 (Q14-Q19):

問題 #14

An insured submits a $300 claim for medical expenses. The insurer notes that the insured has a past due premium of $100, and as a result, the insurer only pays $200. * Which of the following General Policy Provisions covers this situation?

- A. renewability
- B. payment of claims
- C. unpaid premium
- D. payment actions

答案： C

解題說明：

The situation described falls under the unpaid premium general policy provision as outlined in Pennsylvania Accident and Health Insurance regulations. This provision allows an insurer to deduct any past-due premium from claim payments before issuing benefits to the insured. In the given example, the insured submits a $300 claim, but because $100 in premiums is overdue, the insurer lawfully reduces the payment to $200.

Pennsylvania-approved insurance study guides explain that the unpaid premium provision protects insurers from paying claims when premiums have not been fully maintained, while still honoring coverage in force.

This provision applies only when coverage remains active and the policy has not lapsed.

The other options are incorrect. The payment of claims provision explains how and when claims are paid, not deductions for unpaid premiums. Renewability addresses continuation of coverage. Payment actions is not a recognized general policy provision.

Therefore, unpaid premium is the correct and verified answer according to Pennsylvania Life, Accident, and Health Insurance policy standards.

問題 #15

If an insurer determines the insured is totally disabled, the policyowner is relieved of paying the policy premiums as long as the disability continues. This statement describes the

- A. premium suspension clause.
- B. waiver of premium rider
- C. disability income rider.
- D. waiting period exemption.

答案： B

解題說明：

The statement describes the waiver of premium rider, a common optional rider in Pennsylvania Life and Health Insurance policies. This rider relieves the policyowner of paying premiums when the insured becomes totally disabled, as defined in the policy, and remains disabled beyond a specified elimination period.

Pennsylvania-approved study guides explain that once total disability is confirmed, the insurer waives required premiums while keeping the policy fully in force. Coverage continues as if premiums were being paid, preserving cash values and death benefits. If the insured recovers, premium payments resume.

The other options are incorrect. A disability income rider provides monthly income, not premium relief. A waiting period exemption and premium suspension clause are not standard or recognized riders under Pennsylvania insurance regulations. Therefore, the waiver of premium rider is the correct and verified answer based on Pennsylvania Life, Accident, and Health Insurance documentation.

問題 #16

When a Pennsylvania producer's appointment is to be terminated, how many days does the insurer have to submit a copy of the statement to the producer after notification to the commissioner?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

答案： C

解題說明：

Under Pennsylvania Insurance Department regulations, when an insurer terminates a producer's appointment, the insurer must notify the Insurance Commissioner. After this notification, the insurer has 60 days to provide the producer with a copy of the termination statement.

Pennsylvania-approved producer licensing materials emphasize that this requirement ensures transparency and allows the producer to review the reasons for termination. If the termination involves alleged misconduct, the producer has the opportunity to respond or contest the information provided to the Department.

The timeframe is strictly enforced to protect both consumer interests and producer rights. The other answer choices-15, 45, and 90 days-do not align with Pennsylvania statutory requirements. Therefore, 60 days is the correct and verified answer based on Pennsylvania Life, Accident, and Health Insurance licensing documentation.

問題 #17

An Insurance licensee must do all of the following in order to renew an insurance license EXCEPT

- A. submit to the department a completed renewal form.
- B. hold active insurer appointment(s).
- C. complete the continuing education requirements, if applicable.
- D. pay the required renewal fee.

答案： D

解題說明：

Under Pennsylvania insurance regulations, an insurance licensee must meet several requirements to renew a license. These include paying the required renewal fee, submitting a completed renewal application to the Department of Insurance, and completing any applicable continuing education requirements.

However, holding active insurer appointments is not required to renew an insurance license. A license allows an individual to act as an insurance producer, while appointments authorize the producer to sell products on behalf of a specific insurer. A license may remain active even if the licensee is not currently appointed by an insurer.

The Pennsylvania Insurance Department distinguishes clearly between licensure and appointment status.

Therefore, the requirement that does not apply to license renewal is holding active insurer appointments. The correct and verified answer is A.

問題 #18

What is the approach to assessing the consumer's need for life insurance that focuses on an individual's future stream of income?

- A. Return of Investment approach
- B. Human Life Value approach
- C. Needs approach
- D. Affordability approach

答案： B

解題說明：

The Human Life Value (HLV) approach is the method of assessing a consumer's life insurance needs that focuses on the individual's future stream of income. Pennsylvania Life Insurance study materials describe this approach as a way to estimate the present value of an insured's expected earnings over their remaining working years. The purpose is to determine how much life insurance would be needed to replace the income lost if the insured were to die prematurely.

Under the HLV approach, factors such as age, occupation, earnings, employment duration, inflation, and family dependency are evaluated. This approach views the insured as an income-producing asset whose economic value must be protected for dependents. The other options do not align with this concept. The needs approach focuses on specific financial obligations such as debts, education, and living expenses. The affordability approach considers what the individual can afford in premiums, not income replacement. The return on investment approach is not a recognized method for determining life insurance needs under Pennsylvania-approved education materials. Therefore, option A is the correct and verified answer.
