Splunk IT Service Intelligence Certified Admin Sample Questions (Q49-Q54):

NEW QUESTION # 49
Which index contains ITSI Episodes?

- A. itsi_grouped_alerts
- B. itsi_summary
- C. itsi_notable_archive
- D. itsi_tracked_alerts

Answer: A

Explanation:
Reference: https://docs.splunk.com/Documentation/ITSI/4.10.2/Configure/IndexOverview B is the correct answer because ITSI episodes are stored in the itsi_grouped_alerts index. This index contains notable events that have been grouped together based on predefined aggregation policies. Episodes help you reduce alert noise and focus on resolving incidents faster. NEW QUESTION # 50
Which of the following describes a realistic troubleshooting workflow in ITSI?

- A. Correlation Search -> Deep Dive -> Notable Event
- B. Service Analyzer -> Notable Event Review -> Deep Dive
- C. Correlation search -> KPI -> Aggregation Policy
- D. Service Analyzer -> Aggregation Policy -> Deep Dive

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 51
Which of the following is a good use case for creating a custom module?

- A. Creating a service template to make it easy to automatically create new services during service and entity import.
- B. Modules are required to be able to create custom visualizations for deep dives.
- C. Modules are required to create entity and service import searches.
- D. Making it easy to migrate KPI base searches and related visualizations to other ITSI installations.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Creating a custom module in Splunk IT Service Intelligence (ITSI) is particularly beneficial for the purpose of migrating KPI base searches and related visualizations to other ITSI installations. Custom modules can encapsulate a set of configurations, searches, and visualizations that are tailored to specific monitoring needs or environments. By packaging these elements into a module, it becomes easier to transfer, deploy, and maintain consistency across different ITSI instances. This modularity supports the reuse of developed components, simplifying the process of scaling and replicating monitoring setups in diverse operational contexts. The ability to migrate these components seamlessly enhances operational efficiency and ensures that best practices and custom configurations can be shared across an organization's ITSI deployments.

NEW QUESTION # 52
Which of the following is a best practice when configuring maintenance windows?

- A. Give the maintenance window a buffer, for example, 15 minutes before and after actual maintenance work.
- B. Change the color of services and entities that are part of an open maintenance window in the service analyzer.
- C. Disable any glass tables that reference a KPI that is part of an open maintenance window.
- D. Develop a strategy for configuring a service's notable event generation when the service's maintenance window is open.

Answer: A

Explanation:
It's a best practice to schedule maintenance windows with a 15- to 30-minute time buffer before and after you start and stop your maintenance work.
Reference:
A maintenance window is a period of time when a service or entity is undergoing maintenance operations or does not require active monitoring. It is a best practice to schedule maintenance windows with a 15- to 30-minute time buffer before and after you start and stop your maintenance work. This gives the system an opportunity to catch up with the maintenance state and reduces the chances of ITSI generating false positives during maintenance operations. For example, if a server will be shut down for maintenance at 1:00PM and restarted at 5:00PM, the ideal maintenance window is 12:30PM to 5:30PM. The 15- to 30-minute time buffer is a rough estimate based on 15 minutes being the time period over which most KPIs are configured to search data and identify alert triggers.

NEW QUESTION # 53

What are valid considerations when designing an ITSI Service? (Choose all that apply.)

- A. Backfill of a KPI should always be selected so historical data points can be used immediately and alerts based on that data can occur.
- B. Entities, entity meta-data, and entity rules should be planned carefully to support the service design and configuration.
- C. Service access control requirements for ITSI Team Access should be considered, and appropriate teams provisioned prior to creating the ITSI Service.
- D. Services, entities, and saved searches are stored in the ITSI app, while events created by KPI execution are stored in the itsi_summary index.

Answer: C,D
