VMware Cloud Foundation 9.0 Administrator Sample Questions (Q77-Q82):

NEW QUESTION # 77

An administrator must obtain an overview of all vSAN and non-vSAN datastores within a VCF environment using VCF Operations. Where should the administrator access this information?

- A. Diagnostic Findings
- B. VCF Health
- C. Storage Overview
- D. Data Protection & Recovery

Answer: C

Explanation:

The VCF Operations Dashboards Guide describes the Storage Overview dashboard:

"The Storage Overview dashboard provides visibility into capacity, performance, and health across vSAN and non-vSAN datastores. Administrators can track datastore utilization, latency, throughput, and availability from a single pane of glass." Diagnostic Findings (B) shows troubleshooting insights, not full storage details. Data Protection & Recovery (C) covers backup/replication information. VCF Health (D) focuses on SDDC Manager, vCenter, NSX, and host health, not datastore metrics. Therefore, the required datastore overview is accessed through the Storage Overview dashboard in VCF Operations.

NEW QUESTION # 78

During a network reconfiguration, an administrator wants to minimize disruptions for critical VMs. Which strategies support minimal downtime?

- A. Schedule maintenance windows for host networking updates
- B. Use vMotion to move VMs before making major network changes
- C. Disable DRS to prevent any automated host migrations
- D. Employ NIC teaming and failover policies

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

Migrating VMs off hosts via vMotion (A), scheduling a maintenance window (C), and using NIC teaming (D) for redundancy help minimize downtime. Disabling DRS (B) can be detrimental if loads need rebalancing.

NEW QUESTION # 79

Which of the following might cause vMotion migrations to fail or be interrupted in a vSphere environment?

- A. Datastores formatted with VMFS on one host and NFS on the other
- B. Non-shared storage when using standard vMotion
- C. Incorrect VM network labels between source and target hosts
- D. A mismatch in virtual hardware versions across hosts

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

vMotion requires consistent network labels (A) and shared storage (C, D) for the same VM files. Virtual hardware versions (B) can usually differ as long as the underlying ESXi supports them, though EVC might be necessary if CPU instruction sets differ greatly.

NEW QUESTION # 80

A company wants to enhance the network virtualization and security capabilities within their VMware Cloud Foundation environment. The goal is to block traffic even between virtual machines connected to the same logical segment (L2 network) using micro segmentation.

Which component can achieve the company's goals?

- A. VMware NSX Intelligence
- B. Intrusion Prevention System
- C. Network Detection and Response
- D. VMware vDefend

Answer: A

Explanation:

VMware NSX Intelligence is a component of VMware NSX that provides micro-segmentation capabilities, enabling the company to block traffic between virtual machines even if they are connected to the same logical segment (Layer 2 network). It enhances security by applying fine-grained security policies at the virtual machine level, preventing unauthorized communication.

NEW QUESTION # 81

What prerequisite must an administrator complete in VCF before configuring Provider Networking in VCF Automation?

- A. Create a vDS in vCenter.

- B. Create a vDS in Provider Management.
- C. Create a T0 Gateway in the Organization.
- D. Create a T0 Gateway in NSX Manager.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Before you can configure Provider Networking, an active Tier-0 (T0) Gateway must be created in NSX Manager and associated with the Provider region. This gateway provides external routing and forms the foundation for VPC and tenant networking.
