An administrator needed to recover all the configurations related to the user, Support. The configurations were saved in configuration revision ID 9.

The administrator reverted the configuration using the Configuration Revision History window and received the CLI output shown in the exhibit.

What can you conclude from the CLI output?

- A. The administrator needs to retrieve the device to correctly detect the FortiGate firmware version.
- B. The administrator reinstalled the policy package.
- C. The administrator installed only the device-level configuration.
- D. The administrator set the flag to 0 to prevent configuration overrides.

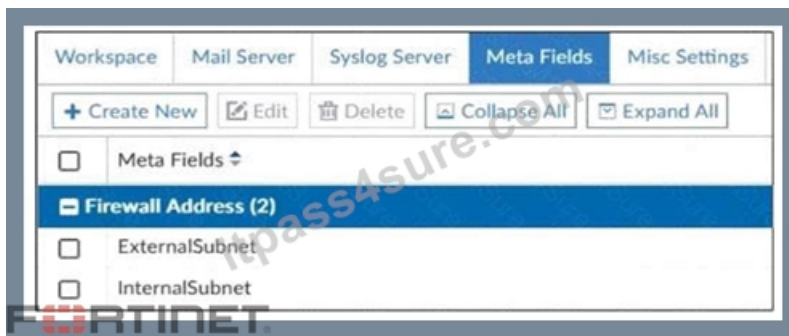

Answer: A

Explanation:

The CLI output shows the status "dev-db: not modified; conf: in sync; cond: OK; dm: installed," but the firmware version for the device is listed as "[unknown]." This indicates that FortiManager has not properly detected the FortiGate firmware version, likely because the device needs to be retrieved to update its information.

NEW QUESTION # 44

An administrator created two new meta fields in FortiManager.
Which operation can you perform with these parameters?

- A. You can use them as variables in scripts.
- B. You can add them to objects as custom attributes.
- C. You can export them to be used in other ADOMs.
- D. You can invoke them using the $ character.

Answer: B

Meta fields in FortiManager can be added to objects as custom attributes, allowing administrators to categorize and add additional information to firewall objects for easier management and identification.
