Splunk Enterprise Certified Admin Sample Questions (Q132-Q137):

NEW QUESTION # 132

Immediately after installation, what will a Universal Forwarder do first?

- A. Begin reading local files on its server.
- B. Automatically detect any indexers in its subnet and begin routing data.
- C. Begin generating internal Splunk logs.
- D. Send an email to the operator that the installation process has completed.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Immediately after installation, a universal forwarder will start generating internal Splunk logs that contain information about its own operation, such as configuration changes, data inputs, and forwarding activities¹. These logs are stored in the $SPLUNK_HOME/var/log/splunk directory on the universal forwarder machine¹. The universal forwarder will not automatically detect any indexers in its subnet and begin routing data, as it needs to be configured with the IP address and port number of the indexer or the deployment server². The universal forwarder will not begin reading local files on its server, as it needs to be configured with the data inputs that specify which files or directories to monitor². The universal forwarder will not send an email to the operator that the installation process has completed, as this is not a default behavior of the universal forwarder and would require additional configuration³.
