```

An administrator Is expecting to receive advertised route 8.8.8.8/32 from FGT-A. On FGT-B, they confirm that the route is being advertised and received, however, the route is not being injected into the routing table.
What is the most likely cause of this issue?

- A. FGT-B is configured with a prefix list denying the 8.8.8.8/32 network to be injected into the routing table.
- B. The administrator has misconfigured redistribution of routes on FGT-A.
- C. A batter route to the 8.8.8.8/32 network exists in the routing table.
- D. FGT-8 is configured with a distribution list denying the 8.8.8.8/32 network to be injected into the routing table.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The 8.8.8.8/32 route is visible in the OSPF database on FGT-B but not installed into the routing table-the most likely explanation is that FGT-B is filtering it from being installed.

NEW QUESTION # 59

Answer: B,C

NEW QUESTION # 60
Which two statements about Security Fabric communications are true? (Choose two.)

- A. The default port for Neighbor Discovery can be modified.
- B. FortiTelemetry and Neighbor Discovery both operate using TCP.
- C. By default, the downstream FortiGate establishes a connection with the upstream FortiGate using TCP port 8013.
- D. FortiTelemetry must be manually enabled on the FortiGate interface.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
FortiTelemetry is a critical part of Security Fabric communications and requires explicit configuration for each participating FortiGate interface. The administrative access setting "fabric" (corresponding to FortiTelemetry) must be manually enabled per interface on both upstream and downstream devices. This is performed in the GUI under Administrative Access or via the CLI using the command set allowaccess fabric for the relevant network interface. Without this step, FortiTelemetry communications will not occur on that interface.
Additionally, the default communication between downstream and upstream FortiGate units in the Security Fabric is over TCP port 8013. This port is well-documented as the standard for Security Fabric and FortiTelemetry connections, and must be open and permitted across the network path for connectivity and status enforcement between units. The downstream FortiGate initiates the connection to the upstream via this port unless otherwise configured. This has also been documented as a PCI-relevant port, showing its default usage.
Other options:
* Neighbor Discovery in FortiOS uses IPv6 ND protocol, not TCP.
* FortiTelemetry port (8013) can be modified, but the interface Administrative Access for the Security Fabric must be manually enabled; Neighbor Discovery port modification is not documented as a supported change for FortiGate.
