NEW QUESTION # 147

Emma, an HR manager, is implementing new work-life balance initiatives. She introduces a policy where employees can choose their start and end times as long as they complete their required hours. What practice is Emma promoting?

- A. Job sharing
- B. Telecommuting
- C. Overtime pay
- D. Flexible working hours

Answer: D

Explanation:

Emma is promoting flexible working hours, allowing employees to choose their start and end times as long as they complete their required hours, which enhances their work-life balance.

NEW QUESTION # 148

Which of the following best justifies the use of assessment centers? (Select TWO options.)

- A. They help determine the skill set of employees
- B. They give credibility to the organization
- C. They help select the most qualified applicants
- D. They help identify employees at risk for attrition
- E. They increase employees' productivity

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:

Assessment centers are structured evaluation processes that use simulations, exercises, and tests to assess candidates or employees for selection, development, or promotion.

* Option A (They increase employees' productivity): Assessment centers evaluate potential, not directly increase productivity.

* Option B (They help select the most qualified applicants): Correct, as assessment centers are often used in recruitment to identify the best candidates.

* Option C (They help identify employees at risk for attrition): This is not a primary purpose of assessment centers.

* Option D (They help determine the skill set of employees): Correct, as they assess skills, competencies, and potential.

NEW QUESTION # 149

A database of candidates' profiles that can be used to recruit is called:

- A. Shortlist
- B. Key talent
- C. Job ranking
- D. Talent pool

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:

A talent pool is a database of candidate profiles (e.g., resumes, applications) that an organization maintains to source potential hires for future roles. It allows HR to proactively build a pipeline of candidates for recruitment needs.

* Option A (Key talent): This refers to high-potential employees within the organization, not a database of external candidates.

* Option B (Job ranking): This is a job evaluation method, not related to candidate databases.

* Option C (Shortlist): A shortlist is a smaller group of candidates selected for a specific role, not a broad database.

Reference: aPHRi knowledge domain - Recruitment and Selection: Building and managing talent pools for future hiring.

NEW QUESTION # 150

Enter the answer as a numeric value.

An organization hired 10 employees in one year and incurred the requirement expenses shown in the table.

The cost per hire is US $ _____.

Costs	Amount (US $)
Advertising	400
Administrative	700
Miscellaneous	800

Answer:

Explanation:

190

Explanation:

Cost per hire is calculated as:

$$\text{Cost per hire} = \frac{\text{Total recruitment costs}}{\text{Number of hires}}$$

Cost per hire = Number of hires / Total recruitment costs Given:

* Total costs = 400 + 700 + 800 = 1,900

* Number of hires = 10

$$\text{Cost per hire} = \frac{1,900}{10} = 190$$

NEW QUESTION # 151

An employment leaves an organization willingly. This term is called:

- A. Separation
- B. termination
- C. Resignation
- D. Layout

Answer: C

Explanation:

When an employee willingly leaves an organization, it is referred to as a resignation. The employee voluntarily informs the organization of their intent to leave, typically providing a notice period.

* Explanation of Other Options:

* A. Layout: Incorrect term, likely a typo for "layoff," which is involuntary.

* C. Separation: A broader term that can include voluntary and involuntary departures.

* D. Termination: Implies the organization initiated the employee's departure.
