How Ask AI works

Three steps from question to artifact — no dashboards to configure, no filters to set.

- 01 You ask in natural language
 Type a question or request the way you'd say it to a colleague. No special syntax, no query language.
- 02 AI reads your test data
 TestRelic AI's AI maps your prompt to your live test runs, failure logs, coverage metrics, and historical trends.
- 03 You get a usable artifact
 The output isn't just text — it's a rendered dashboard, a structured plan, a shareable report, or a deck slide. Ready to act on.

What you can generate

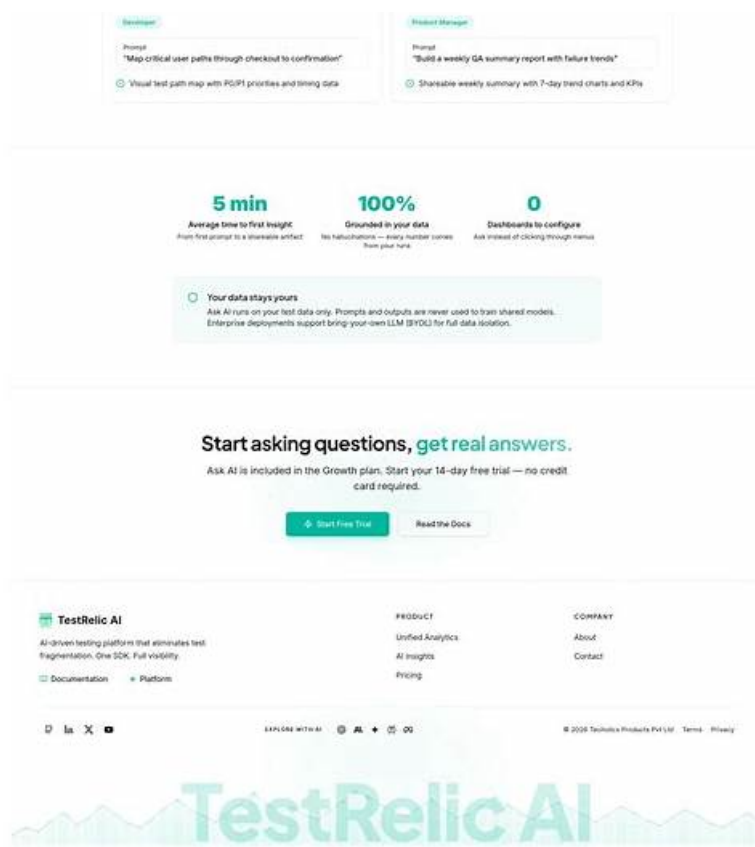

Every artifact is rendered live from your actual test data — not templates.

- Live Dashboards
 Ask for a test health dashboard and get a fully populated view — pass rates, MTTR, flaky test trends — instantly rendered from your real data.
- Test Plans
 Describe a feature or module and get a structured regression plan with prioritized test cases, coverage gaps, and edge-case suggestions.
- QA Reports
 Generate weekly or sprint-level QA summaries with failure trends, metric comparisons, and PD escape tracking — ready to share in seconds.
- Stakeholder Slides
 Turn test metrics into a polished sprint review deck. Charts, coverage factors, and action items — formulated for leadership, not just engineers.
- Test Path Mapping
 Describe a user journey and get a visual map of critical test paths, priorities, timing, and coverage gaps across your checkout or auth flows.
- Plain English Queries
 Ask anything: "Which tests broke after last deploy?" or "What's the flakiest suite this week?" — no SQL, no filters, just answers.

Built for every role on the team

Ask AI speaks the language of QA leads, developers, managers, and PMs alike.

- QA Lead
 Prompt: "Generate a sprint review deck with test coverage metrics"
 Output: 4-slide deck: Test Health, Coverage by Module, Flaky Trends, Action Items
- Engineering Manager
 Prompt: "What broke after yesterday's deployment?"
 Output: Regression report: 5 failing tests, root cause, affected modules

Oracle Fusion Cloud Procurement 2025 Implementation Professional Sample Questions (Q46-Q51):

NEW QUESTION # 46

To improve usability and reduce errors, you have set a default negotiation template for each document type when creating or editing a negotiation style.

This feature is always enabled but you do not always see the template that was set on the negotiation style defaulting in. What could be two reasons for this?

- A. It is a private template where only the template owner can use it.
- B. It is a global template and the negotiation is created in the same BU as the template.
- C. It is a public template.
- D. The template is inactive at the time of creating the negotiation.
- E. The template is active at the time of creating the negotiation.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

The default negotiation template for each document type is only applied when creating or editing a negotiation style if the template is active and public. If the template is inactive or private, the template will not be defaulted in. Therefore, the two reasons why you do not always see the template that was set on the negotiation style defaulting in are:

* The template is inactive at the time of creating the negotiation. An inactive template cannot be used for creating or editing negotiations, and it will not be displayed in the list of available templates. You need to activate the template before you can use it as a default template.

* It is a private template where only the template owner can use it. A private template is only visible and accessible to the user who created it, and it will not be shared with other users. You need to make the template public if you want to use it as a default template for all users.

Create a Negotiation Template, section "Create a Negotiation Template", subsection "Default Negotiation Template".

Oracle Supplier Negotiations, section "Create Negotiations", subsection "Create Negotiations: Default Negotiation Template".

Which inherited role must be removed from the seeded Employee role to restrict certain employees from creating requisitions?

- A. Supplier Customer Service Representative

- C. Supplier Contract Manager

- D. Supplier Bidder
- E. Supplier Sales Representative

Answer: D

Supplier Administrator (Abstract Role) - Oracle, section "Supplier Bidder (Abstract Role)".

Set Up Supplier Roles - Oracle, section "Supplier Bidder Role".
