VSCode, as an integrated development environment, offers extensive support for Salesforce development, including Lightning Web Components. Salesforce DX enhances this with version control, continuous integration, and deployment capabilities, making it an ideal choice for deploying complex packages like DataPacks. This approach allows system administrators to manage and deploy Salesforce configurations and code with precision and control.

Which three tasks must the Technical Consultant do to accommodate this request?

- A. Assign the Decision Explainer Permission Set License to the appropriate user(s).

- C. Integrate the BRE with Decision Explainer.
- D. Create a Screen flow and incorporate the Decision Explainer component to display the outcome.
- E. Create an Apex Trigger to document the decision steps performed.

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

A Screen flow, a Decision Explainer Log History component, and a Decision Explainer Permission Set License are three tasks that must be done to accommodate the request of explaining how a particular grant seeker was prioritized. A Screen flow is a type of flow that can create an interactive user interface to display information or collect data from users. A Screen flow can incorporate the Decision Explainer component, which is a custom Lightning component that can display the outcome and explanation of a decision made by a Decision Matrix or a Business Rules Engine (BRE). A Decision Explainer Log History component is a standard Lightning component that can display a list of Decision Explanations that have been generated for a record by a Decision Matrix or a BRE. A Decision Explainer Permission Set License is a type of license that can grant users access to the Decision Explainer features, such as viewing and creating Decision Explanations. - C. Configuring more than ten different OmniScript Application forms and making them available on an Experience Site for external users to apply.
- D. Configuring an Application Object Usage Record to track the number of applications processed for License & Permit Management and Emergency Response Management.
