- A. Single node deployment with the integrated load balancer
- B. Ten node deployment with the integrated load balancer
- C. Single node deployment with no load balancer
- D. Three node deployment with an external load balancer
- E. Single node deployment with an external load balancer
- F. Two node deployment with the integrated load balancer

Answer: C,D,F

Explanation:
Two node deployment with the integrated load balancer: vRealize Log Insight supports a two-node deployment with an integrated load balancer, providing redundancy and load distribution.
Three node deployment with an external load balancer: A three-node deployment with an external load balancer is a valid and scalable option, ensuring high availability and load balancing.
Single node deployment with no load balancer: A single node can be deployed without a load balancer for smaller environments or testing purposes.

NEW QUESTION # 34
An administrator has been asked to provide their internal support team Network Operations Center (NOC) live information of their existing vSphere infrastructure for only one (1) day, which will expire automatically.
The support team does not have access to vRealize Operations.
Using vRealize Operations features and capabilities, which approach is best suited for this task?

- A. Download a custom NOC Dashboard from the VMware vRealize Sample Exchange.
- B. Scheduled Reports which include Views and Dashboard information.
- C. Share predefined or custom dashboards using URL or Email.
- D. Configure vRealize Operations Access Control to allow support team members access to vROps and then restrict access to the appropriate areas in vRealize Operations.

Answer: C

Explanation:
The best approach for providing live information to the Network Operations Center (NOC) for one day, without giving them access to vRealize Operations, is to share predefined or custom dashboards using a URL or email. This allows you to share the necessary information with the support team for a specified period (in this case, one day). Dashboards can be created and shared through a URL or by email, and access to the information can expire once the sharing link is no longer accessible.

- E. Select the "Get latest" content option to retrieve the content in between automatic sync timers.
- F. An auto refresh of content list runs in the background every 15 minutes.

Answer: A,B,E

Select the "Get latest" content option to retrieve the content in between automatic sync timers: If the administrator wants to manually sync and get the latest content between the auto-refresh intervals, they can select the "Get latest" option.
