NEW QUESTION # 134

What results from fearing the consequences of being caught; and is a product of reasoning?

- A. Speech honesty

- B. Integrity
- C. Conduct
- D. Conditional honesty

Answer: D

Explanation:

Conditional honesty is a behavior pattern where a person acts honestly primarily due to the fear of being caught or facing consequences. Unlike integrity, which is internal and moral-based, conditional honesty is external and consequence-based. It is considered a product of reasoning and is a key concept in evaluating personnel risk in security-sensitive roles.

NEW QUESTION # 137

Under 50/50 rule of comparative negligence, the plaintiff can collect for damages if he or she was responsible for more or less than 50 percentage of the negligence.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: A

Explanation:

Under the 50/50 rule (also known as the "modified comparative negligence" rule), the plaintiff may recover damages only if they are 50% or less at fault. If the plaintiff's fault is more than 50%, they cannot recover any damages. Therefore, a person responsible for more than 50% of the negligence would be barred from recovery.

NEW QUESTION # 138

When installing a passive infrared detector (PIR), the physical security professional must mount the detector so that the intruder is MOST likely to:

- A. Move towards the sensor

- B. Move away from the sensor
- C. Attempt to defeat the detector
- D. Move across the line of sight of the sensor

Answer: D

Explanation:

PIR (Passive Infrared) detectors are most effective when motion occurs across the sensor's field of view. This maximizes the differential detection of body heat moving against the ambient background.

B and C (Movement toward/away) produce weaker thermal contrasts.

A (Defeat attempts) is a risk but not a mounting consideration.
