ISQI ISTQB Certified Tester - Foundation Level Extension - Agile Tester Sample Questions (Q46-Q51):

NEW QUESTION # 46

Which of the following statements about the benefits of the Agile processes promoting early and frequent feedback is NOT true?

- A. Early and frequent feedback enables the team to deliver the features that represent the highest business value to the customer first.
- B. In Agile projects where feedback is provided early and frequently, defects and incorrect requirements are caught earlier and those problems can be fixed faster.
- C. Increasing the frequency of feedback and communication between all the stakeholders involved in Agile projects eliminates all communication problems.
- D. Feedback from well-conducted Agile retrospectives can be used to positively affect the development process over the course of the next iteration.

Answer: C

Explanation:
Explanation
The Agile processes promote early and frequent feedback from the customers, users, testers, developers, and other stakeholders involved in the project. This feedback helps to ensure that the product meets the expectations and needs of the customers and users, and that the development process is continuously improved and adapted to the changing requirements and environment. However, increasing the frequency of feedback and communication does not eliminate all communication problems, as there may still be issues such as misunderstandings, misinterpretations, conflicts, or cultural differences that need to be resolved. Therefore, the statement D is not true, as it implies that communication problems are completely avoided by the Agile processes. NEW QUESTION # 47

Which of the following statements is true?

- A. Early and frequent feedback in Agile projects allows the team to provide customers with products that better meet their requirements sooner
- B. Early and frequent feedback in Agile projects allows the team to find a greater number of defects at the unit test level than in non-Agile projects
- C. Early and frequent feedback in Agile projects provides earlier information about the stability of the software product but not about its quality
- D. Early and frequent feedback in Agile projects helps maintain a uniform distribution of defects through the code and thus avoid defect clustering

Answer: A

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
From the CTFL-AT Syllabus v4.0, Section 2.3 The Role of Feedback, it explains:
"Agile development promotes early and continuous feedback, which leads to the development of a product that better meets customer needs and expectations." Also:
"Frequent feedback loops support the team in identifying and resolving issues earlier, improving both the product quality and customer satisfaction." Therefore, Option D is the most accurate reflection of the true benefit of early and frequent feedback in Agile environments.
* Option A incorrectly implies Agile feedback redistributes defect clustering, which is not a recognized principle.
* Option B makes an unverifiable claim about defect volume at the unit level. Agile encourages unit testing, but this comparison is not substantiated in the syllabus.
* Option C is incorrect because feedback provides both stability and quality indicators early on.

NEW QUESTION # 48

Which two of the following statements are CORRECT with regards to test automation on agile projects?

1) Every test developed for past iterations is kept and executed as part of a regression suite for each new release of code.
2) It would be very difficult to ensure high quality in an agile project without test automation.
3) Automated acceptance tests are run regularly as part of the continuous integration full system build.
4) Automated regression suites are only run for the final release of code.
5) In agile projects, the results from automated acceptance tests provide feedback on the overall product quality.

- A. 2, 3
- B. 3, 4
- C. 2, 5
- D. 1, 3

Answer: C

Explanation:

Test automation is essential for agile projects, as it enables fast and frequent feedback on the quality of the product. Without test automation, it would be very difficult to ensure high quality in an agile project, as manual testing would be too slow and costly to keep up with the pace of development12. Automated acceptance tests are one of the key types of test automation on agile projects, as they verify that the user stories are implemented correctly and that the product meets the customer's expectations. Automated acceptance tests are run regularly as part of the continuous integration full system build, and the results provide feedback on the overall product quality12. Therefore, statements 2 and 5 are correct with regards to test automation on agile projects. References: 1: ISTQB Foundation Level Agile Tester Syllabus, Section
3.3.1, Test Automation1; 2: ASTQB Agile Tester Certification Resources, Section 3.3.1, Test Automation2

NEW QUESTION # 49

Which of the following statements is FALSE regarding early and frequent feedback?

- A. Early feedback helps to deliver a product that better reflects what the customer wants.
- B. Early feedback decreases the amount of time needed for system testing.
- C. Early feedback provides the Agile team with information on its productivity.
- D. Early feedback promotes early discovery and resolution of quality problems.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Explanation
Early and frequent feedback is one of the core values of Agile development. It helps the Agile team to deliver features with the highest business value first, to discover and resolve quality problems as soon as possible, to provide information on the team's productivity and progress, and to ensure that the product meets the customer's expectations and needs. However, early feedback does not necessarily decrease the amount of time needed for system testing, as system testing is still an important activity in Agile projects to verify the integration and functionality of the whole system. Early feedback may reduce the number of defects found in system testing, but it does not eliminate the need for system testing.
