NEW QUESTION # 503

An application has been developed for monitoring rooms in Cisco Webex. An engineer uses the application to retrieve all the messages from a Cisco Webex room, but the results are slowly presented. Which action optimizes calls to retrieve the messages from the /v1/messages endpoint?

- A. Define the ma property by using the pagination functionality.
- B. Set the beforeMessage property to retrieve the messages sent before a specific message ID.
- C. Avoid unnecessary calls by using a prior request to /v1/rooms to retrieve the last activity property.
- D. Filter the response results by specifying the created property in the request.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The main reasons for using pagination in REST APIs are as follows:
- To improve response times and end-user experience: Because paginated responses are much smaller, they can be handled by the server and the network faster, and faster responses provide better user experiences.
- To save resources: Providing small responses demands much less compute and network resources.
