Which type of OSPF LSA has the following characteristics: It is flooded only within the area it originates from and can be originated by any OSPF router within the area (including non-DR routers).

- A. Type 2 Network LSA
- B. Type 1 Router LSA
- C. Type 3 Summary LSA
- D. Type 4 ASBR LSA

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 37
An OSPF router receives an update in which the sequence number, age, and checksum are the same as the entry already in the topological database. What action is taken by the router?

- A. The link state information already in the database is overwritten and the age is reset
- B. The link state information is not populated in the database and an acknowledgement is sent
- C. The link state information is not populated in the database but is forwarded to all neighbors
- D. The link state information is regarded as old and nothing is done.

Answer: B

Exhibit 3.1.d

What triggers convergence of the routing protocol when the link between switch 1 and switch 2 goes down?

- A. Convergence is triggered when the switches notify the routers about the link state information. At this point, both routers R1 and R2 re-compute their link state database and send updates to their adjacent routers. Once the process is complete for all routers, the networks have converged
- B. Convergence is triggered when an LSA is sent from router R1 to router R2 to indicate that the link is down. At this point, both routers R1 and R2 re-compute their link state database and send updates to their adjacent routers. Once the process is complete for all routers, the networks have converged.
- C. Convergence is triggered when the physical interfaces between routers R1 and R2 go down. At this point, both routers R1 and R2 re-compute their link state database and send updates to their adjacent routers. Once the process is complete for all routers, the networks have converged.
- D. Convergence is triggered when the adjacency between routers R1 and R2 drops as a result of Hello timeouts. At this point, both routers R1 and R2 re-compute their link state database and send updates to their adjacent routers. Once the process is complete for all routers, the networks have converged.
- E. Convergence will not be triggered because switches cannot run routing protocols between them.

Answer: D
