Cloud Security Alliance Certificate of Cloud Security Knowledge v5 (CCSKv5.0) Sample Questions (Q128-Q133):

NEW QUESTION # 128

Which opportunity helps reduce common application security issues?

- A. Default deny
- B. Fewer serverless configurations
- C. Segregation by default
- D. Elastic infrastructure
- E. Decreased use of micro-services

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 129

In the shared security model, how does the allocation of responsibility vary by service?

- A. Based on the per-service SLAs for security.
- B. Shared responsibilities should be consistent across all services.
- C. Responsibilities are divided between the cloud provider and the customer based on the service type.
- D. Responsibilities are the same across IaaS, PaaS, and SaaS in the shared model.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The division of security responsibilities changes according to the service model. In IaaS, CSCs handle more security responsibilities, while in SaaS, the CSP manages more of the security aspects. Reference: [Security Guidance v5, Domain 1 - Shared Responsibility Model][source 17].

NEW QUESTION # 130

Which Identity and Access Management (IAM) component verifies the identity of a user, process, or device, as a prerequisite to allowing access?

- A. Assertion
- B. Entitlement
- C. Authentication
- D. Authorization

Answer: C

Explanation:

In the CSA Security Guidance v4.0, Domain 12: Identity, Entitlement, and Access Management, authentication is explicitly defined as the process that verifies the identity of a user, process, or device before granting access.

"Authentication is the act of verifying the identity of a user, process, or device, often as a prerequisite to allowing access to resources in an information system."

- CSA Security Guidance v4.0, Domain 12

Here's what each term means:

Authentication = Verifies identity

Authorization = Determines access rights

Entitlement = Set of access rights assigned to a user

Assertion = Statement from an identity provider, often used in federation So, authentication must happen before authorization. It's the first gate.

NEW QUESTION # 131

Which of the following is a common risk factor related to misconfiguration and inadequate change control in cybersecurity?

- A. Excessive SBOM focus
- B. Failure to update access controls after employee role changes
- C. Lack of sensitive data encryption
- D. Lack of 3rd party service provider specialized in patch management procedures

Answer: B

Explanation:

Correct Option: B. Failure to update access controls after employee role changes This falls under one of the most common risk factors related to cloud misconfiguration and poor change management. Misconfiguration errors often stem from insufficient change control, especially in dynamic environments like the cloud. According to CSA's Security Guidance v4.0, poor governance of identity and access management (IAM) changes - such as not updating access privileges when user roles change - introduces serious security risks.

"Cloud computing is dynamic by nature. This places more importance on automation and proper governance, especially for identity and access control. Failure to remove or update access permissions after personnel changes leads to orphaned or over-permissioned accounts, which are prime targets for attackers."

- Domain 2: Governance and Enterprise Risk Management, CSA Security Guidance v4.0 Also highlighted in ENISA's Cloud Risk Assessment:

"Loss of governance includes failing to maintain proper control over access privileges and role assignments. Poor change management and inadequate configuration reviews can leave systems open to unauthorized access."

- ENISA Cloud Computing Risk Assessment, Section R.2: Loss of Governance Why the Other Options Are Incorrect:

B . Lack of sensitive data encryption: While encryption is critical, it is not directly tied to change control or misconfiguration, but rather falls under Data Security and Encryption domain.

C . Lack of 3rd party service provider specialized in patch management procedures: This refers more to vendor management and Security-as-a-Service, not internal change control or misconfigurations.

D . Excessive SBOM focus: Software Bill of Materials (SBOM) is important for supply chain transparency, but excessive focus on it isn't a typical misconfiguration or change control risk.
