- A. $37,888
- B. $36,698
- C. $42,861
- D. $35,859

Explanation:

A is correct because Francis will receive $37,888 in Canadian dollars when he redeems the Funds. This is calculated by dividing the current proceeds from the redemption in US dollars by the current CAD/USD exchange rate and rounding to the nearest dollar. That is,

NEW QUESTION # 310

On January 2nd of this year Evan purchased 500 preferred shares of Ingram Ltd. The preferred shares have a par value of $25 per share and a quarterly dividend of $0.98 per share. They also give Evan the option to sell the shares back to Ingram at par value any time from now until September 1st two years from now. What type of preferred shares does Evan own?

- A. redeemable
- B. participating
- C. retractable
- D. convertible

Answer: C

Explanation:

Retractable preferred shares are those that give the holder the option to sell them back to the issuer at a predetermined price and date. This is the case for Evan, who can sell his shares back to Ingram at par value any time from now until September 1st two years from now.

NEW QUESTION # 311

Which of the following statements regarding mutual fund fees is correct?

- A. Redemptions are made from units held by investors to pay trailer fees.
- B. Trailer fees are only paid to mutual fund dealers when a purchase is made.
- C. The mutual fund dealer receives trailer fees based on the value of assets under management.
- D. Trading commissions are paid from the management fee.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Trailer fees are ongoing fees that are paid by mutual fund managers to mutual fund dealers for providing ongoing services to their clients who hold units of their funds. Trailer fees are calculated as a percentage of the value of assets under management (AUM) of the clients who hold units of the fund. Trailer fees are paid out of the management fee that is charged by the mutual fund manager to cover the costs of operating and administering the fund. Therefore, option C is correct regarding mutual fund fees. The other options are incorrect. Option A is false because redemptions are not made from units held by investors to pay trailer fees; rather, trailer fees are paid out of the management fee that is deducted from the net asset value (NAV) of the fund. Option B is false because trailer fees are not only paid to mutual fund dealers when a purchase is made; rather, trailer fees are paid on an ongoing basis as long as the clients hold units of the fund. Option D is false because trading commissions are not paid from the management fee; rather, trading commissions are paid from the trading expense ratio (TER) that reflects the costs of buying and selling securities within the fund.

NEW QUESTION # 312

The Corporation Group is seeking financing for the purchase of new equipment for a planned expansion.

They want to use the funds for a period of five years. They do not want to pledge any of their existing assets as security or extend shares to any of their debtors. Additionally, they want the privilege of repaying borrowed funds at any time if they so choose. What is the most ideal fixed-income security they should issue to raise this capital?

- A. Callable debentures
- B. Treasury bills
- C. Convertible bonds
- D. Commercial paper

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Corporation Group needs 5-year financing, without pledging assets (so not secured bonds).

Debentures are unsecured debt backed only by the issuer's credit rating, meeting the requirement of not pledging assets.

They also want flexibility to repay early. Only callable debentures provide this feature since they allow the issuer to repay before maturity.

Convertible bonds (B) would dilute equity (which they want to avoid).

Commercial paper (C) and Treasury bills (D) are short-term instruments (under 1 year), not suitable for 5- year financing.

Therefore, the ideal choice is Callable Debentures.

NEW QUESTION # 313

For the last year, an investor earned a return before adjustment for inflation of 2% on a money market fund, while inflation averaged 1.5%. What was his nominal rate of return?

- A. 1.50%
- B. 0.50%
- C. 2.00%
- D. 3.50%

Answer: C

Explanation:

The nominal rate of return is the return before adjustment for inflation, which is given as 2%. The real rate of return would be adjusted for inflation ($2\% - 1.5\% = 0.5\%$), but the question asks for the nominal rate. The feedback from the document states: "It is important to consider the effects of inflation on investments because we can isolate the difference between nominal and real returns. Investors are more concerned with the real rate of return - the return adjusted for the effects of inflation. A nominal return is a return that has not been adjusted for the impact of inflation. The approximate real rate of return is calculated as: Real Return = Nominal Rate - Annual Inflation Rate."
